CHURCHILL SAYS 335,000 SAVED, PLEDGES BRITAIN TO BATTLE ON

Duce's Cabinet Approves Plans Of Preparation

Ministers Extend Military Scene To Africa

BULLETIN

ROME —(AP)— Speculation on the date of Italy's plunge into war ranged today from the end of this week to the end of June as Premier Mussolini's cabinet stamped an okay on undisclosed plans for war. One source close to the government said no move to step into the conflict was likely in the immediate future.

(By Associated Press)

ROME — Premier Mussolini's cabinet approved today a series of measures to prepare the nation for war, but left unanswered the question when Italy would enter the European conflict at Germany's side.

In an anxiously awaited 90-minute session, with Il Duce presiding, the ministers moved to extend war preparations to Italy's African empire, to strengthen the navy and tighten discipline in the war industries.

But Italy's position as a nonbelligerent ally of Germany remained unchanged by the meeting, to which the world has looked for days for a clue to Il Duce's next move.

The measure dealing with war industries provided punishment for infractions of discipline which would interfere with output.

The cabinet voted additional funds for warship construction but the amount was not disclosed.

Provision also was made for the admission of more student officers to the royal naval academy.

Foreign observers had speculated that this meeting, summoned to examine "various and important subjects," was lined somehow with choice of a day for Italian entrance — long predicted — into the European war.

However, the newspaper Il Resto Del Carlino, a leading exponent of Italian intervention in the conflict, declared such speculation was unfounded but said an Italian move might be expected "soon."

No meeting was scheduled for the present for the Fascist grand council, the nation's highest policy-forming body which generally is called upon to approve any

Paris Admits Raid One of Military Objectives

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(INS)—A warning of sharpest German retaliation against any Allied air raids on undefended German cities was voiced in Berlin today.

Yesterday's German air attack on Paris was aimed solely at military objectives, a spokesman said.

"If France and England should retaliate for the Paris attack by onslaughts against undefended German cities, the Reich will be compelled to take most drastic counter-measures," it was said.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS — The government acknowledged today that airdromes, factories and railways had been damaged in the German air raid on Paris yesterday, and authorized sources said that in view of this evidence that the bombing was aimed at military objectives the French did not feel justified in reprisals for civilian casualties.

Military officials said that while bombs had been dropped in "haphazard fashion," killing 45 civilians and wounding 200, it appeared there had been no "deliberate" attack on the city itself.

Therefore, it was said, the French feel that while they can now "justifiably" attack factories and military objectives around Berlin, attacks on German civilians are not called for.

It was explained that France had not altered her original policy of giving "blow for blow" in reply to German bombings, and that if the Germans "ever deliberately attack" an open city the French would feel free to strike back in kind.

Shortly before the air ministry acknowledged the damage to military objectives the scared capital was rocked anew by the boom of anti-aircraft guns going into action to drive off German planes which appeared over the suburbs at about 9 a. m., (A a. m. EST.)

No bombs were dropped, but residents were kept in a state of anxiety by the explosion of several time bombs loosed in yesterday's raid. There were no immediate reports of additional casualties from these blasts.

The situation on the war front was described by the high command as quiet on all sectors except at Dunkerque, where the

SOLDIERS MOST URGENT DEMAND

Gen. Marshall Tells Congress Manpower Army's Most 'Tragic Shortage.'

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Congress learned from the army's chief of staff today that manpower is the army's "tragic shortage" at present and "the only thing, in a large measure, that can produce immediate results."

Despite his earlier statement that procurement of equipment should take precedence over personnel increases, Gen. George C. Marshall told a house appropriations subcommittee, in testimony made public today, that the army's maximum peace time enlisted strength of 280,000 men would be inadequate to meet emergencies stemming from the current international situation.

"Personnel at the present moment is our serious deficiency," Marshall said.

Funds to increase the army from its present strength of 227,000 men to the 280,000 limit already have been included in the $1,800,000,000 army supply bill.

Marshall said that "if there is not a mobilization this summer," the maximum legal strength would be reached before September.

Marshall said that a ground garrison of one battalion of infantry and a field artillery detachment should be sent as quickly as possible to the army's projected $12,000,000 air base at Anchorage, Alaska.

Democrats and Republicans Join in Support of 'Keep Out' Measure Aimed at Nazis if Allies Lose

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(AP)—President Roosevelt asked congress today for funds to start 88 new naval vessels in submitting a defense request for $1,277,741,170 for both the army and navy. The executive said last week he would ask for "over a billion."

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Democrats and Republicans alike supported the administration today in an effort to post a firm "keep out" sign, obviously aimed at Germany, on the possessions of other foreign powers in this hemisphere.

Legislation to clarify any doubts about American policy on that point was introduced yesterday by Chairman Pittman (D., Nev.) of the senate foreign relations committee and Chairman Bloom (D., N. Y.) of the house foreign affairs committee. Bloom told reporters that the bill was backed by Secretary Hull.

The house committee was called together to approve the bill quickly today. Even before it met, Rep. Fish of New York, the ranking Republican member, announced his support.

Bolstering the Monroe Doctrine, by which President James Monroe in 1823 declared the American continents closed to future colonization by any European powers, the legislation would commit the United States definitely against any effort by Germany—should it defeat the Allies—to claim title to British, French, Dutch or Danish possessions in the new world.

It declares that the United States "would not recognize any

Canada Hinted As Future Base Of Operations

Declaring 'We Shall Never Surrender' Premier Points to Empire Across The Seas for Deliverance if England Conquered

(By Associated Press)

LONDON—Prime Minister Churchill, speaking in commons today, said Britain will carry this war to victory "if necessary for years—if necessary alone," despite the "colossal" defeat in Flanders.

He said the Allies had suffered "a colossal military disaster," that the French army had been weakened and Belgium lost.

The deliverance of the troops from Dunkerque, he said, was largely due to the work of the Royal Air Force, guarding the 220 light warships and 620 other vessels employed in the work.

He said 30,000 men in the B. E. F. had been killed, wounded or were missing, but added proudly that 335,000 Allied troops had been saved from annihilation or capture. Commons cheered wildly.

Canada may be used as a base for the British empire's fight against Germany—in the event of a Nazi conquest of England—it was indicated by Churchill, who told the house of commons:

"We shall never surrender!

"And even if this island or even a part of it is subjugated and starving, then our empire across the seas, armed and guarded by the British fleet, will carry on the struggle until in God's good name the new world in all its strength and might sets forth to the rescue and liberation of the old."

Canada would be the nearest point to the conflict among the empire's dominions and colonies.

Even as Churchill spoke, German columns were reported by the Nazi high command to be entering the Allies' "escape" port of Dunkerque.

The prime minister said 30,000 men in the British expeditionary force had been killed, wounded or were missing.

Churchill warned Britain that

READY TO PICK NEW CITY DAD

Council Will Name Successor To Philip Smith; Field Narrowed to Two.

Successor to the late Philip Smith, councilman-at-large, will be named tonight in the regular session of council at City building, as the result of a caucus of Democratic members last night in which the last of six candidates was whittled down to two.

William Fenn, formerly councilman from the first ward, and Lester Hunter, who once represented the fourth ward, will be considered tonight, and one will be chosen to fill Smith's place as councilman-at-large.

There were four other candidates who sought the appointment. They were former mayor Claude M. Hunter, Earl Troll, son of the former president of council; George W. Loesch, who was an unsuccessful candidate several years ago for council; and Floyd Hunt, former mayor of Butler.

The list of men who sought the appointment was large, according to Council Clerk William Beer, who said that in several vacancies in the past it had been necessary to "draft" citizens into serving.

BASE BLOCKED

British Sink Ships Across Zeebrugge Harbor.

LONDON —(U.P.)— Zeebrugge, which Germany used almost throughout the last war as a chief submarine base, has been blocked even more effectively than the British blocked it in 1918, a British navy spokesman asserted today.

The spokesman, the senior naval officer present at the blocking, said that the operation was effected in two phases, one May 25, the other May 27, without casualties.

Two cement-filled ships were sunk so that they rested across the sill of the lock at the entrance to the Zeebrugge-Bruges canal, the spokesman said.

They were sunk, completely blocking the channel, despite bombardment and machine gunning from German airplanes.

CAPTURED: Nazis Say Fort Taken in Dunkerque Fighting

BULLETIN

BERLIN—(AP)—The German army has taken the fortress of Dunkerque, together with 40,000 prisoners, after heavy fighting in that escape port for the Allied armies of the north, the German high command announced today.

BULLETIN

PARIS—(AP)—The French admiralty announced tonight that the last Allied naval and army units had abandoned Dunkerque, leaving the city entirely to the Germans after destroying all supplies.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Nazi troops have entered Dunkerque and captured one of its forts, the German high command reported today, as the Nazi air force, back from an "experimental" bombing of the Paris region, waited orders to strike again—in conjunction with a great land offensive which most Germans expect to start in the west any day.

Puncture of the Allied rearguard defending the withdrawal from the German pocket in Flanders was achieved in hard fighting, the high command acknowledged.

"The fight for Dunkerque is nearing its end," the communique declared. "Our troops penetrated into the town and captured Fort Louis from the desperately fighting enemy. House-to-house fighting is still going on with French troops whose task it was to protect the flight of the British soldiers to their vessels."

The German raids yesterday destroyed between 300 and 400 Allied planes in hangars and on airfields in addition to shooting down 104, the communique reported.

The German fliers, swarming over in all kinds of war planes, caught the French unaware "and in attacks at high and low altitude . . . obtain the strongest effect on ports and industrial establishments of the French air force," the communique said.

"Numerous fires and explosions were observed," it said.

Despite the scope of the German air assault, the high com-

DRAMATIC: Leopold's Story Goes to Roosevelt in Letter

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER

WITH THE GERMAN ARMY—(AP)—John Cudahy, United States ambassador to Belgium, disclosed today that President Roosevelt, from a personal letter written him by King Leopold III of the Belgians, knows the inside story of the king's capitulation to the Germans.

Cudahy visited Leopold Sunday for two hours at the castle assigned him by the German army.

Here, the defeated king handed Cudahy the letter for President Roosevelt in which the monarch told his side of the story.

Cudahy declined to comment on the letter or the status of King Leopold. The American ambassador has contact with neither Washington nor Berlin.

Still, he sticks to his post for he feels he has big work to do with the Red Cross. He realizes Belgium has food for only 30 more days, assuming the Germans do not requisition it.

Realizing that Leopold's dramatic story has never been told, we made a detour of more than 100 miles from France into Brussels.

Since Cudahy felt it incompatible with his present position to comment, an intimate friend of the royal family was interviewed. His account placed Leopold in a new light.

This friend said that the king, lacking what he considered proper aid from the British and French, although the British admiral, Sir Roger Keyes, as liaison officer, was with him and saw the Belgian army's plight, and seeing that 500,000 Belgian civilians were mingled

HEAT'S ON!

June Shoots Mercury to High Mark for Season.

June literally "turned on the heat" yesterday to give Mansfield its warmest day of the year with a peak temperature of 84.

Reaching 82 at noon today, the mercury was on its way to another high mark, but the weatherman said there will be thundershowers tomorrow to end the late spring heat wave.

He forecast continued fair weather tonight with little change in temperature. The low this morning was 53 degrees while the 24-hour average of 68.5 degrees was three degrees above normal.

Summer heat settled over all of Ohio and the midwest yesterday. Cincinnati reported 90 and Cleveland 87.

Braves Seeking Seventh Win in Retailer's Game

The Mansfield Braves will be seeking their seventh consecutive victory and second place in the Ohio State league title chase today when they play host to the Lima Pandas before a Mansfield Retail Merchants' association employe gathering at the Fairground under the floodlights at 8:15 p. m.

Mansfield is trailing the second-place Lima club by half a game and can hop into undisputed possession of the runner-up berth by turning back the Pandas tonight. George Laurila is expected to toe the rubber for the Braves, while Manager Merle Settlemire will hurl for the Pandas.

The Retail Merchants association purchased a block of 1,500 tickets and are distributing them free among members of the association who in turn will give the ducats to their employes.

Mansfield marked up its second straight win over Lima by topping the Pandas, 9 to 8, at Lima last night. Eldon Dice's home run in the seventh with two mates on base was the deciding blow.

ALIEN DISPUTE

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A resolution to ban aliens from public school jobs after July 1 deadlocked the Cleveland board of education, three to three, yesterday. Thomas M. Martin offered the proposal, asserting that aliens were employed in "all departments" of the school system.

THIRD TERM

Reports Link Senator Byrnes To Vice Presidency.

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Unconfirmed but reliable reports circulated at the capitol today that President Roosevelt had indicated to trusted advisers within the past few days that he would accept a third term nomination, and that Sen. James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, would be his running mate.

Several sources usually "in the know" on political developments said that Mr. Roosevelt and Byrnes had discussed the latter's vice-presidential potentialities during a Potomac river cruise last week-end.

Byrnes, it was said, expressed willingness to be on a third term ticket. Byrnes, however, would not comment.

TRAGIC END

Father And Son Found Shot to Death In Garage.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Delbert Taylor, 32-year-old policeman at a steel plant here, and his son, Donald, 7, were found shot to death today in a garage at a relative's home, a pistol near their bodies.

Patrolman Joseph Osowski, reporting Taylor and his wife recently had become estranged, said the steel worker apparently shot his son and then put a bullet through his own head.

Mitchell Court Martial Member Now Concedes Late Air General Was Right

Retired Officer, Viewing War in Europe, Admits Value of Planes.

By JACK VINCENT

VIENNA, Va.—Maj Gen. Edwin B. Winans, a member of the army court which tried Brig. Gen. William (Billy) Mitchell in 1925, declared today that Europe's war justified Gen. Mitchell's warnings 20 years ago that air power might become a deciding factor in future warfare.

Living in retirement, Winans, now 71, authorized this statement:

"I admit now that Gen. Mitchell had vision beyond that of most men of his time."

The statement ended there, but behind it was a story of how the men who fought with Mitchell in World war No. 1 have swung around to accept his views on air preparedness.

Mitchell, after commanding the A. E. F. air force in France, returned home to become the champion of military aviation. Appointed director of military aviation in January 1919, Mitchell kept warning congress and the American people that the U. S. was far behind in aviation and aerial defense.

That long ago, Billy Mitchell was urging parachute troops, aerial torpedoes, troop transport planes, air bases in Alaska and

Lip Tinting Difficult Art

By MME. QUI VIVE

All will forgive the fly-away darling if her hair is a bit touseled or her powder patchy. She's always in a hurry, dashing places, and not much is expected of her. But when she makes terrible smears on her lips, jiggles the tulip cream over the white skin, even gets it on her teeth, we lose patience. There's no reason why she should make herself a perfectly goshawful face like that. Men are critical of sloppy makeup. When fastidious women see it, they visualize messy dresser drawers, soiled undies, stockings in need of mending, combs and brushes that wouldn't pass inspection.

The outline of the lips can be improved by improvising a carefully thought out pattern, but the girl who hurries her makeup sessions had better not attempt them. What she needs is a lipstick brush which can be purchased for a small sum. She should also use a magnifying mirror.

The bristles of the brush are passed over the red cream, placed at the outer lines of the lips, swept to the inner surfaces. If the lips are stretched in a wide grin when this treatment is given, the brush will force the cosmetic into the little creases; there will be no wide open spaces.

Now and then we see the misguided lady who attempts to create a too decided Cupid's bow, which does not become the active girl of this period, and which suits only the naive countenance. A suggestion of a dip in the center of the upper lip provides a graceful line, but if nature didn't give one that kind of a design, it is likely that the simulated one won't be harmonious with the other features.

Don't stop tinting before you get to the actual border line. You can, if you like, use the pointed end of an orangewood stick to apply coloring to the very edges of the lips and then fill in.

If teeth are white and perfect you can use vivid shades though they aren't going as strong as they were—but if there are any defects in your biters, soft pedal a bit. Try to get a lipstick that is not too startling a contrast to the skin.

For the blond the red stick with a golden cast is flattering. The brunette, lucky ducky, can get away with true reds, can indulge in blue reds if her skin is a rich ivory tone. The redhead is the one who gets a headache when she goes lipstick hunting. She has to find a color that won't out flash her flaming crown.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Noel!" I said at last, severely, and with a fervent mental petition that my ruse would work, "do you mean to tell me that you are going to spoil Mary's triumph with this silly jealousy of yours?"

The barb struck home.

"I'm not jealous," he said belligerently. "Do you think I could be jealous of a poser like that leading man? Mary wouldn't wipe her feet on him. But I just can't stand having a man look at her the way that fellow was!"

Purposely I laughed, and put infinite derision in my mirth. Noel's eyes held dagger points, but I ignored them.

"My dear boy," I said with planned condescension. "You should have thought of this when you married Mary. If you can't stand having other men admire a rarely beautiful and gifted creature like Mary, you should have chosen some plain little thing at whom no man would ever take two glances. Honestly, Noel, I don't know what you're going to do. Men are going to send admiring and romantic glances at Mary for many years to come, especially when she's on the stage, and if you object, you're going to make yourself unpleasantly conspicuous, and Mary thoroughly miserable."

His belligerency was deflating rapidly, I noted from the corner of my eye—I had not dared to look directly at him while I was talking—and when he spoke next, I knew that victory was in my hands.

"I suppose I am an awful sap," he said, and I sternly suppressed a smile as I tossed back the expected denial.

"Indeed you're not," I said, and added a reinforcement.

"It was a perfectly natural reaction, because it was a new experience. But you must prepare yourself to get used to it. And, if you'll take a word of advice, never, never, let Mary guess how you felt about Mr. Redfield today. There may come times in your life together, when you will have to defend her against some real unpleasantness because of the attentions of someone who doesn't understand how impervious she really is to romantic admiration, and how immune she is because of her deep love for you. When those times come, your defense of her will have its effectiveness marred, if you have strutted around like a game cock whenever somebody casts a side glance of admiration at her."

He was taking it like a lamb, but at my last speech he voiced a half-sulky objection.

"If you call Redfield's side glances—"

"No," I told him smiling, "they were at least three-quarters. But—you see what I mean, I am sure."

"Yes, I do, and I'm grateful," he said heartily. "But,"—his lips set in an obstinate line—"I don't think I'm mistaken about what my father's trying to do."

"Perhaps not." I knew better than to disagree flatly with him on this point when he had been so amenable on the other. "But wouldn't it be a good idea to give him the benefit of the doubt?"

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, June 5.

A FAIRLY progressive and pleasant day is forecast from the predominant lunar aspects, although things are likely to move along lines of least resistance and in accustomed grooves. Documents, writing, contracts, concerning the affairs of groups, social or industrial bodies seem to figure prominently. These should be effective in promoting good will and constructive effort in new as well as the established channels. Social and domestic life are also under propitious although not spectacular rule.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a pleasant, progressive and generally satisfying year, with both old and new interests developing nicely in routine grooves. Writings, contracts and documents are instruments of influence in enhancing the happiness and productiveness of the year. Private affiliations are also moderately active and gratifying.

A child born on this day should be generally talented, industrious, energetic, ambitious and resourceful. It may have a well-rounded life, with success and happiness in a moderate way.

Beef Loaf Versatile Entree

By BETSY NEWMAN

The beauty of a beef loaf is that it can be served hot the first time, then sliced cold, made into sandwiches (which are always needed in summertime), and finished to the last little bits. It is one of the best warm weather meats, and economical to boot.

Today's Menu.

Beef Loaf Scalloped Potatoes
Cucumber and Lettuce Salad
Green Peas
Hot Water Gingerbread
Tea or Coffee

* * *

Beef Loaf.

1 pound round steak
½ pound fresh pork
salt
pepper
1 egg
1 cup dry breadcrumbs
milk

Mix meat, 1 teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper, beaten egg and breadcrumbs together, add milk enough to make a soft roll. Lay 2 strips of bacon over top and bake ¾ hour in 350 degree F. oven, adding a little water or tomato juice occasionally if it seems inclined to burn.

* * *

Hot Water Gingerbread.

2½ cups flour
1½ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. soda
½ tsp. salt
1 tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. cloves
½ cup fat
½ cup sugar
2 eggs
1 cup molasses
1 cup boiling water

Sift flour, measure and sift again with baking powder, soda, salt and spices. Cream fat, add sugar and cream together, then add eggs, one at a time, blending thoroughly after each addition. Add dry ingredients alternately with liquid, stirring after each addition until smooth batter is obtained. Turn into greased pan and bake in 350 degree oven from 40 to 45 minutes. When taken from oven leave in pan for 5 minutes, then remove and when cool spread with frosting.

Garden Graph

By DEAN HALLIDAY

Cultivation of the soil is the keystone of good gardening. Summer cultivation, however, should not be as deep as spring cultivation. During the summer season cultivate about one inch deep in the flower garden and two inches deep in the vegetable garden. Deeper cultivation might injure the roots of the plants.

Regular cultivation establishes a dust mulch, as shown in the accompanying drawing. This mulch helps greatly to conserve the moisture in the soil. In other words, the plants have more water available for their roots when the surface of the soil is insulated with a dust mulch than they would have if the soil surface is left unprotected.

Cultivation also helps to keep down weeds, aerates the soil, and makes it possible for rainfall to soak into the soil rather than run off as it does when the soil surface is packed hard.

"The Authority on Authorities"

FORCING A READING

Many of the guesses by declarers can be eliminated through their playing the tricks in such an order that they can read the exact situation. The discards forced upon the defenders compel them to give a partial indication as to the location of missing cards. Then, when their hands are pretty well stripped down, one or the other finally is obliged to put forth the one card which tells you exactly what you have to know.

2 ♣	Pass	3 NT	Pass

North, who hates minor suit contracts and loves No Trumpers, took a terrific chance with his 3-No Trumps and was lucky to find that singleton heart K held by South. The latter, who had begun very conservatively, was richly justified in his leap to slam, since the side was not using any artificial conventions. Of course a diamond contract would have been far sounder.

Nobody could find fault with North's play, however. East led the heart A, then the 4 to the Q. North quickly saw he was safe if he could get all ten tricks in the minor suits. He started out running his five diamonds. When West discarded three hearts and a spade, and East the heart 2 nobody throwing a club, North felt sure one of the defenders was holding four clubs, almost certainly West, since there would not have been much reason for a player with just three clubs to the J to hold on to them.

Then North laid down the club A. When this dropped the 10, he considered it as marking a winning finesse against West's J. So he led the club 2 next, finessed the 8, cashed the Q, entered dummy with the spade A, then ran the last two clubs.

Of course, if East had held the club J-10, this play would have lost, but in that event West would have had only three little clubs and probably would have tossed one of them on diamonds.

'SAFETY TOWN' TO OPEN AGAIN THIS SUMMER

City to Operate It Despite Lack of Funds to Carry On Playgrounds.

"Safety-Town" where children of pre-school age, are taught the rudiments of traffic safety will be operated this year despite the fact that the city recreation department hasn't the funds to operate playgrounds.

Patrolman Frend C. Boals said today that arrangements had been made with the recreation board to continue the project this summer, the city furnishing a supervisor, although funds were nearly depleted. Boals is in charge of the project.

Opening of the traffic game will be delayed until about June 24, Boals said. He plans to set it up at school grounds this year in the absence of supervised city playlots.

He hopes to open the project at Bowman school and continue throughout the summer at all school grounds, suitable for play for two-week periods.

Buys New Autos.

Plans have already been made by the Richland County Automobile club, co-sponsors of the project, for the purchase of new toy automobiles. It is planned to have only 12 machines this year, all balloon tire models.

"Safety-Town," which will enter its fourth year of operation consists of a miniature street layout, complete with a small scale traffic light at a main intersection.

Children play a game of "motorist" and "pedestrian" under the direction of a supervisor and are taught motorist and pedestrian respect as well as the meaning of all traffic signs which mark the miniature street intersections

98 NEW HOMES BUILT HERE IN PAST 5 MONTHS

Valuation of Residences In Cities Past $500,000 Mark, Records Show.

Despite adverse weather conditions, residential construction during the first five months of 1940 maintained the record pace set last year, and valuations of new homes shot past the $500,000 mark.

Valuations in new home construction during the five months totaled $501,800, an increase of more than $75,000 over the total a year ago, a survey of building permits showed today.

Records revealed that so far this year, 98 new homes have been started in Mansfield. Last year at the same time only 94 were under construction and their total valuation was $425,150.

Total valuation of all buildings including new construction, alterations, remodeling, residential and industrial construction for the five-month period was $656,930, as compared to $1,333,365 a year ago.

Chief reason for the drop in valuations was the construction of two new high schools, valued at over $400,000 during the early part of 1939.

Highest for 1940.

Last month's total valuations were $198,575 the highest so far in 1940 and surpassed by more than $5,000 the valuations for the previous month.

The figure was more than $52,000 ahead of May 1939 when valuations totaled $146,179.

Residential construction last month totaled $175,050 as compared to $132,050 for the corresponding period in 1939. However, only 28 new homes were started in May as against 31 in the same month a year ago.

FARMERS PLAN 'PASTURE DAY'

Richland Delegation Expected at Wooster Demonstration.

The annual "Hay and Pasture day" Thursday at the Ohio Agricultural Experiment station, Wooster, is expected to attract a number of Richland county farmers who are interested in the study of pasture problems.

County Agent George B. Ganyard said "tours of field experiments in which pasture and hay problems are being studied will be made at the experiment station, giving farmers an opportunity to see results of practices in actual field conditions."

'CLEAN-UP' WEEK PUTS CRIMP IN CITY'S REVENUE

It Was Valuable Service to Community But It Took $800 Out of Needed Funds.

Collection of rubbish by city workmen, without cost to residents during the annual clean-up week was a valuable service to the community but it boomeranged today by putting a crimp in street department funds

The free collection service early last month cost the city approximately $800 in street department funds, which would have otherwise been used to repair streets ravaged by the severe winter.

City officials who estimated the cost from figures obtained from Lester Linham, garbage department superintendent, in charge of the clean-up crew of workmen, said annual service not only took considerable funds but also required the use of department trucks during a period when the street department was the busiest.

The figures showed that the cost of the clean-up service amounted to $94 a day for four city trucks and two extra men who had to be hired during the seven-day period.

An additional $42 was spent for the hire of two additional trucks for part time and $25 was paid for a dump attendant during the week.

Pointing out that the service was an asset to the city in eliminating health and fire hazards, officials pointed out that the job had been carried on annually without any appropriation by council.

He suggested that appropriations be made to finance the project and protect other departments against a shortage of funds.

Linham reported that more than 300 tons of rubbish was hauled to the city dumps during clean-up week May 5-12.

Johnson Recounts America's Critical Defense Needs

SEES LACK OF EQUIPMENT IN PRESENT ARMY

Assistant War Secretary Sets Preparedness Date as Dec. 31, 1941.

(By United Press)

CINCINNATI—Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson said today that under the expanded defense program the war department expects to have nearly all the "critical items" of equipment for an army of 1,000,000 men ready by Dec. 31, 1941.

He emphasized in an address prepared for delivery to the National Association of Purchasing Agents that at present the equipment is insufficient for even the 500,000 men in the regular army and the national guard.

"We must put our national defense on a stand-by basis," Johnson said, "ready for any grave emergency."

He defined "critical items" as "tanks, field pieces, and others of a non-commercial nature . . . to take care of all of those who will respond to the call of their country in the early months of a grave crisis."

Johnson said that the country is "not completely ready anywhere on our supply front," but insisted that with time and funds results would be obtained.

"We lack trucks to meet the needs of the regular army," he said. "The national guard has not been fully equipped with modernized artillery. Our quota of anti-aircraft guns is not yet available. There are many weaknesses up and down the line."

Johnson predicted, however, that under the air force expansion drive, the production experience and training of recent months would be of material assistance in meeting increased demands.

On other defense fronts he noted that since 1938 distribution of Garand rifles to the army had been completed and that full delivery to the national guard would be made by June, 1941; that gas masks are on hand for the regulars and "under manufacture" for the guard; that the medical department has completed combat equipment for 500,000 men.

"National defense," he said, "is at the crossroads. It is heading in the right direction . . . we must travel it at the maximum speed compatible with safety and efficiency and we must see to it that it remains true to the course of adequate preparedness. We must assure ourselves that at the end we will find an America ready to meet any military crisis; an America so well prepared on land, on sea and in the air that no prudent enemy will be tempted to attack us and that no reckless foe will be in a position to defeat us."

Schenck Ready to Answer Charge of Income Tax Fraud

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Indicating he was ready "to go to New York at any time," Joseph M. Schenck, chairman of the board of 20th Century-Fox Film corporation, said today he was waiting for advice from his eastern attorney, John J. Burns, as to when to leave to surrender to federal indictments charging him with income tax fraud.

At the same time, he reiterated that he was innocent of any wrong doing, declaring "the charges made against me are grossly unfair."

"Income tax problems are always complex and subject to dispute," he said.

Schenck became president of United Artists several years ago and was with the company until 1933. He then joined Darryl Zanuck in the 20th Century corporation. The company merged with Fox in 1935. Schenck becoming chairman of the board and Zanuck taking charge of production as vice president.

SNIFF AMMONIA

Broken Brewery Line Releases Fumes Over City.

MARTINS FERRY—(INS)—Residents of Martins Ferry sniffed the breezes today ready to flee at the first sign of a recurrence of an ammonia line break.

The line broke while workmen were dismantling the idle Belmont brewery, releasing noxious fumes over a tenth of the city. Scores of residents fled their homes. Others reported their gardens wilted as the fog-like vapor spread.

DIES IN COLUMBUS

SHILOH—The body of C. S. Crawford, 77, native of Shiloh who died at his home in Columbus Monday morning will be brought here for burial Wednesday afternoon. Services will be held at the grave in Shiloh cemetery at 2 p. m. Two sons and a daughter survive.

Hoover Reveals Fight on Fifth Column

Up and Down THE STREET

Business was practically at a standstill Sunday at the L. Danners Drug Store, on Main street in Loudonville, all because a swarm of bees settled on the awning over the front door. Customers who were brave enough to enter the store did so by the back door. Volunteers were called to remove the pests and business resumed yesterday.

Chanticleer had his place in a poetical drama by Maeterlinck, but he is entirely out of his sphere on Park avenue west. In other words, while he may have been the majestic barnyard fowl who summoned the sun to come up every morning in the play, he is just a noisy rooster to the residents in the 400 block on Park avenue west. Complaints were lodged with police yesterday that the rooster gets up with the sun—in the play he gets the sun up—and crows so loudly every morning that he awakens residents long before the proper time. The owner has promised to put a silencer on the Mansfield Chanticleer.

Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton was having his troubles today because of the oiling of streets for the summer. Unpaved streets in the city are usually oiled to keep down the dust. Four complaints of the many this morning came from the same block. Two of the residents complained that the city hadn't put down enough oil, one that there was too much and another said she had forbidden city street men to oil in front of her home and she wants the director to back her up. Trying to satisfy each property owner in the city is one of the things that makes service directors' lives exciting.

If it rains Wednesday night it won't make a bit of difference to about 80 courthouse workers and members of their families who are going to hold their "outing" indoors at the Schwarz tavern. They will have a chicken dinner this time and later in the summer when the weather is more reliable, they plan to hold a picnic, possibly at Mifflin lake.

WIN CONTEST

Butler Pupils Lead State In Wool Judging.

A team of vocational agriculture pupils from the Shiloh schools won third place in the state in a wool judging contest last week-end at Ohio State university, judges announced today.

A number of Richland county FFA teams participated in the judging contests which tested the ability of youthful farmers to select livestock, wool, eggs, and other farm products.

Floyd McFarland and Dearld Darling, pupils in the Butler village schools, were awarded the degree of "state farmer" for their outstanding work in rural youth projects.

A judging team from Danville, Knox county, won the Ohio Farm Bureau award in the dairy cattle judging division.

KNOX FUNERAL AT LEXINGTON

Rites Held For Woman Who Was Found Dead In Car.

Funeral services for Mrs. Ethel Knox, 49, of 92 South Diamond street, who died in an automobile at Lexington Saturday night, were held at 2:30 p. m. today at the Snyder Funeral home in Lexington. Burial was in Lexington cemetery.

Mrs. Knox, who had been on a fishing trip with her husband, Arthur Knox, died while asleep in the car. Her husband was also sleeping in the automobile. Coroner Hugh Winbigler said death was caused by a heart attack.

LIBRARY OPENS SUMMER CLUB

Youngsters to Show Progres In Reading by Painting Picket Fence White.

The summer reading club for children, spensored by the Mansfield Public library each year and conducted under the supervision of Miss Myra Lorimer, children's librarian, is under way this week.

The summer reading club for children got under way last Saturday under Miss Lorimer's supervision. The club attracts a number of children every summer with certificates and awards for those who finish the course of ten books.

Those who join this summer will be helping Tom Sawyer to whitewash his famous picket fence. As each child turns in the written report on the third book of the course, he will receive an unpainted picket from the fence.

At each succeeding report a part of his picket will be whitewashed, and when he has completed the course of ten books his picket will be entirely white and the fence can be completed.

Children who have white pickets will receive certificates and those who earn their third certificate by reading ten Newberry award books during the summer, will receive a gift book.

Last year 63 children finished the summer course and a number more read a part of the course.

DEFENSE PLANS FAIL TO BOOM OPERATIONS AT EMPIRE STEEL

The stimulus that the European war and the national air defense program were expected to give the steel industry has not yet been felt by the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company in Mansfield, James M. Hill, president of the company, said today.

"We have received no war orders and our plant activity is virtually unchanged," he said.

"A number of people are under the impression that our business is booming because of the war and the big defense program, but so far none of that business has come our way," he added.

Hill pointed out that when the nation begins to build tanks and battleships on a large scale, the steel companies, including Empire, will benefit by it, but the air defense program alone will not have much effect on the steel output.

"There's not enough steel used in 50,000 airplanes to consume even one per cent of the output of the nation's steel industry, so we can't expect to profit much by that," Hill asserted.

In the nation, however, the magazine Iron Age reported a sharp advance during the past week in the steel industry which boosted the May volume for some companies close to the high mark of last fall.

The magazine pointed out that the bombing of steel producing districts in Europe may leave Germany and the Allies without adequate supplies and increase the dependency of the Allies on the United States for steel and pig iron.

200 AT PICNIC

4-H Club Officers, Advisors Attend Annual Meet.

Nearly 200 Richland county 4-H club officers and advisers mapped plans for the year at conferences this morning in the Central Methodist church and then went to North Lake park for their annual picnic.

H. W. Harshfield, assistant state 4-H club leader from Ohio State university, was the principal speaker at the session in the church. His topic was "How Do You Lead?" Four group meetings were conducted to give club officers instructions for the summer program.

Games and contests were on the program following the picnic dinner at the park.

More than 40 girls' and boys' clubs will participate in the 4-H program in the county this summer, mapping their projects primarily for the county fair the last of July.

INNER COUNCIL ORGANIZED TO COMBAT ENEMY

Regular Meeting Held to Plan Attack Against Subversive Elements In Country.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Director J. Edgar Hoover of the federal bureau of investigation revealed today that top-ranking officials of four government departments have formulated a coordinated policy of defense against subversive elements.

He said that spokesmen for the army and navy intelligence services, the state department and the FBI meet regularly to plan the attack against fifth columnists. Close contact, he added, also is maintained with intelligence units of the treasury department.

He said the group, which he described as an internal defense council, has developed plans for pooling of information among government agencies and for cooperation of local law enforcement agencies throughout the nation.

Cooperation with state and local police is effected principally through the 500 officers who have graduated from the national police academy of the FBI, after training in defense tactics, Hoover explained.

These officers serve as a liaison between federal, state, and local forces, and at the same time direct training schools where approximately 30,000 policemen are taught the methods of combatting saboteurs and espionage agents.

Government officials depend upon this network of enforcement to lessen the need for volunteer groups. Welcoming information developed by such groups, Hoover has urged that they leave prosecutions to duly constituted law enforcement officers and guard against vigilante action.

GET PETITION

Commissioners Told Property Owners Want Road Back.

County commissioners, who vacated a short section of the Gages road in Butler township last year without a protest, today had received a petition signed by several property owners who want the road re-established.

The commissioners set June 26 for a hearing on the petition. They will view the road June 19.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, said no one appeared at the hearing when the road was vacated, but soon after the action was taken a number of persons in the community protested.

The road, only .7 of a mile long, is used but little and it was vacated to save the cost of keeping it in the county system, Mitchell said.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Excerpts From Miss Midnight's Diary.

Broadwayites stopped reading headlines and listening to news broadcasts long enough last week to make what used to be called whoopee in the spots where nothing seems more important than the next rhumba, and what Madeleine Carroll has on.

A visitor from the Antipodes, familiar with what the approaching summer is supposed to do to night club business, would have thought this was December, not May; the boites were not only full but gay, the cafes put in new and brighter floor shows, and the stiff-shirted premiere peacocks turned out to welcome "Louisiana Purchase" as if it had opened at the height of the winter season.

Then those skaters were out again. The American Theater Wing's skating party for Allied relief, at J. Rockefeller's roller rink was more or less rained out by intermittent showers, and the guests got rain checks as if the event had been sponsored by the Brooklyn Dodgers, but some of the celebrities turned up in spite of the weather, and just kept dry in the Restaurant Francais, adjoining the rink.

Vivien Leigh didn't look a bit frightened sipping tea with the histronic boogy-woman of Broadway, Flora Robson. Helen Hayes chatted earnestly with Walter Houston, Olsen and Johnson imitated Harpo Marx by pretending to chase the pretty girls who were modelling short skating costumes, and Grace and Paul Hartman showed up just long enough to burn Bob Hope's fanciest handkerchief with their fake magic trick.

The Algonquin Hotel has always been a fortress of the theater folk and the literati, and it's hard to cross the dusty plush lobby of Frank Case's inn without passing a Name to Conjure With, but Tuesday night before the opening of "Louisiana Purchase" the Rose Room was really a pot pourri of talent.

Jessie Royce Landis was dashing her food down in order to make her own curtain; ditto Walter Huston. Julie Haydon munched her dinner delicately, surrounded by such contrasted characters as H. L. Menken, Constance Collier, Phil Baker, Lawrence Stebbins, Carl Van Vechten, Hendrick van Loon, James Rennie and Sigmund Spaeth.

Mr. Case himself wafted in with the suggestion that Mr. Spaeth, the tune detective, and Mr. Menken, the word expert, ought to pool their talents on an original song.

"You have something here, Frank," rejoined Mr. Menken with a shudder. "Please get rid of it right away."

Glamor girl of the "Louisiana Purchase" was Lili Damita, who is back in town looking better than ever and at least 10 years younger since she stopped wearing her hair piled on top of her head. She made her aisle entrance looking ravishing in white fox and I don't know what else, because my vision was blocked by Jules Glaenzer, Diana Barrymore, Hope Hampton, and Major Bowes, to give you just a small idea of what a traditional first night it was.

Over at the Cafe Lounge of the Savory Plaza afterwards the show was almost stolen from Hildegarde by Al Jolson and Ruby Keeler, that friendly, to say the least, estranged couple, whose every movement was watched by at least half the audience. (I hear Al has given Ruby a 20-karat diamond ring that would knock your eye out, and that she's wearing it but keeps telling people she's going to give it back to him.)

Among those who peered just a little were Ben Bernie and Mrs. B., Peggy Hopkins Joyce, Adolph Zukor and Alice Faye.

Hildegarde was showing everyone an autographed portrait she had just received from Noel Coward. On it Noel had written a really scintillating line: "With admiration and best wishes."

Wednesday night Eddy Duchin was flitting all over the Persian Room saying goodbye to Madeleine Carroll, Hannah Williams, Merle Oberon and Jock Whitney, and he confided that he was going to take another screen test for the George Gershwin part in the film biography of the late composer that Warner Brothers is doing.

"If I get into pictures," he reflected wistfully, "do you think people would look at my piano instead of me?"

LaConga that same night looked as crowded as it did on New Years eve, with the velvet rope up, customers four deep at the bar, and other enthusiasts sitting like humpty-dumptys along the wall of the main room. The new show, featuring Juanita Jurrez (who is even better than Carmen Miranda in my ledger) was the attraction, and it certainly attracted.

Bob Hope and his wife entertained a large party at the ringside, and Mae Murray wore out rhumba partners in relays, but never seemed to get tired herself. Sam Goldwyn dropped in late, as did Lili Damita, the Hal Le Roys, and Winthrop Rockefellers.

As the Hurricane's tropical show gets less tropical, it gets much better. The latest offering opened Friday night, starring Mary Jane Walsh, recent soubrette of "Too Many Girls," who does not wear a grass skirt, but does not need one when she gets up to sing. Surrounded by an improved floor show, her chanting, in what the Broadway boys call the sockola manner, makes the Hurricane entertainment among the best in town.

Things are certainly looking up.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—That formidable legend, Oscar Levant, has become an actor; and he confesses, first thing, to a great weariness of the legend.

Levant, musical know-it-all of "Information Please," is not exactly making his screen debut in "Rhythm on the River." He did that, more than 10 years ago, as the piano-player in "The Dance of Life," the Hal Skelly-Nancy Carroll movie based on "Burlesque."

Oscar, for all his reputation as a professional sourpuss and a sparer of nobody's feelings, is a pleasant enough young fellow as he goes about his novel movie chores. Short, swarthy and broodingly alert, he breaks into a sort of shy, laughing-at-himself smile at frequent intervals.

If he had any wisecracks on tap the day I lunched with him, he was saving them for his script.

This was quite possible, inasmuch as Levant is improvising lines as he goes along, a process highly successful to date. He is involved with Bing Crosby, Mary Martin and Basil Rathbone in a yarn about a songwriter (Rathbone) who hires "ghost musicians" to sustain his fame and income.

The Levant legend (said Oscar) has been growing with each successive Levant enterprise.

"I read that I drink 40 cups of coffee a day," he said. "Nobody could drink that much coffee—I drink a lot of it, and it gets to be 40 cups. I'm supposed to be all kinds of a screwball, and I guess that's all right. I write a book, and the publishers want to sell it, so Levant gets more of that kind of publicity. I read where I've cracked a joke—anything the boys think up, out of Miller's joke book or anywhere, it gets pinned on me. Now that I'm doing this—I don't call it acting—I guess it'll get worse. I'm not complaining—I'm just the unhappiest man in the world. I know it's got to be done, though: it's part of selling the book, or the radio show, or the picture. . . .

"This legend about Levant—I don't believe any of it. You're here today and you're quoted right and left, and tomorrow you're gone, and you're a sucker if you take it seriously. I'm a musician, and that's what I'll be, and nothing else, when all this stuff is finished. Then it won't make any difference how much you got quoted and noticed; a composer is judged by what he composes, and serious music is a different world.

"I'm not a know-it-all about music. I make pretty good guesses a lot of the time. Most of the questions are on good, general subjects; sometimes, if you guess two out of four, you give the impression you know all the answers."

Dice's Homer With 2 on In 7th Gives Braves 9-8 Win

Yanks Climb Again

Pennant Winners Only 4½ Games From 1st, Game and Half From 3rd.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

THE way the New York Yankees are rolling now makes it difficult to imagine how a few weeks ago they could lose eight straight and slither around in the cellar of the American league day after day.

There were good reasons, of course—injuries, illness and indisposition. But now it appears that nothing short of a catastrophe can keep the club from its fifth consecutive pennant.

The 7-1 shellacking the Yanks gave the St. Louis Browns yesterday was the fourth in a row over the tail-enders and tenth victory in 11 games. Already New York is within 4½ games of first place and only a game and a half out of third.

Atley Donald in his second appearance, held the Browns to five hits. The only run against him was a homer by Harlond Clift.

The Yanks gained a full game on both the Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers. The league leading Red Sox outhit the Chicago White 14-10 but were beaten 7-4. Boston made four infield errors and Jimmie Foxx was held to a lone single.

The third-place Tigers were 9-3 victims of Leonard's knuckle-ball at Washington. Detroit was held scoreless for eight innings while the Senators piled up a dozen hits including home runs by Gerald Walker and Jim Bloodworth.

Left Al Milnar chalked up his seventh triumph against one defeat for Cleveland by shutting out the Philadelphia Athletics 4-0.

The Cincinnati Reds topped the Boston Bees 3-2 with all the scoring being done in the first frame.

Hugh Casey of Brooklyn held the Chicago Cubs to five hits and won 3-2. One of the runs against him was a pinch homer by Bill Nicholson.

* * *

The New York Giants nosed out the unlucky Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3 when Joe Bowman stumbled between third and home to end a two-run Pittsburgh rally in the ninth. Topped by Harry Danning's eighth homer, the Giants collected 10 hits. The Pirates scored once in the first on a double by Paul Waner and then Bill Lohrman shut down on them until the ninth.

Loses Leg, Becomes Captain

Having lost his right leg through amputation necessary as a result of an injury in a track event, Tom Hunt, star Dickinson college golfer, is cheered by news that he had been made captain of the college golf team. George H. Jones, jr., team manager, is shown notifying Hunt of his unanimous selection.

Johnny Vander Meer May Face Giants

CINCINNATI — (AP) — Johnny Vander Meer, who has been followed by hard luck about as closely as Brooklyn trails the Reds in the National league pennant race, was scheduled for another try at pitching today, against the third place Giants.

* * *

With Cincinnati two games ahead, Manager Bill McKechnie announced that either Vander Meer or Whitey Moore would be called to start the game against King Carl Hubbell who has won the only Giant victory over the Reds in four clashes.

* * *

The Rhinelanders grabbed a 3-2 triumph from the Bees yesterday. Veteran Lou Fette relieved southpaw Joe Sullivan in the second and held Cincinnati to three hits in seven innings, but the damage was already done.

* * *

The Reds had collected their three markers in the first on a single by Lonnie Frey, doubles by Mike and Frank McCormick and a fumble.

* * *

Three bunched hits and Frank McCormick's third error of the season accounted for the Boston tallies, also in the first inning, but after that Paul Derringer put on the lid. He allowed eight hits in all but kept them scattered for his sixth victory and third in a row.

American Legion Juniors to Inaugurate Season Saturday

Mansfield's American Legion Junior baseball club will swing into action against the Shelby American Legion juniors to inaugurate its season at 2:30 p. m. Saturday on the Liberty Park diamond.

Sunday, the Mansfield outfit will journey to Shelby to take on the Shelby Settlement junior baseball team at 12 o'clock at the Shelby diamond.

Meanwhile, the Juniors have two practice sessions slated for this week in preparation for their week-end's activities. This afternoon and Thursday they will work out at 4 p. m. on the Liberty Park diamond.

Bob Winbigler is scheduled to take over the mound duties in Saturday's contest, and Ralph Hazlett has been picked by Dewey Durant, junior manager, to toe the rubber in Sunday's fracas.

Dewey Durant requested today that members of last year's team turn in their uniforms sometime this week.

Four Teams Seek to Retain Lead in Golf League Race

WITH four teams tied for first place, the battle for The News-Journal Class "A" golf title is expected to rage in earnest tonight as the eight foursomes tee off at Possum Run.

Leading the league, following last week's battle, were the Richland Printers, Barnes & Schmid Tires, Long Barmen, and the Athletic Supply club—all with a total of six points.

Match pairings for tonight are: Yuncker Brothers vs. Barnes & Schmidt Tires, Richland Printing vs. Mansfield Athletic Supply, Long Bar vs. Greystone Nite club, and Sloans Drugs vs. Oaks club.

Interest in tonight's matches centers on the Richland Printing-Mansfield Athletic Supply tilt, since both teams are in the four-way tie for first place. The outcome of this match may decide which team will lead the league this week.

Time, Tide, Blonds, Baseball Wait For no Man, Says Mac

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK — (UP) — Time, tide and good looking blonds are not the only things which wait for no man.

* * *

A baseball is another, which you can find out for yourself by taking a stop watch with you to a major league game.

Your appreciation of the speed, skill and precision of the players will be increased three-fold when you realize how little time it takes them to execute the most complicated maneuvers on the field.

How much time do you think elapses from the moment a pitcher releases the ball, the batter hits it, the short-stop fields it and throws to second, the second baseman pivots and the ball lands in the first baseman's glove for a double play?

I timed a double-play in one of Sunday's games between the Yankees and the Browns, and it took only 1 and 2-5 seconds. Russo was the pitcher, Laabs the batter, and the play was Crosetti to Gordon to Dahlgren.

What's your guess on the time required for a Dimaggio home run? That is, from the moment the pitcher unlooses what he hopes will be a strike but which turns into a home run, until the ball lands in the faraway left field bleachers.

The Dimaggio home run on Sunday took just 5 seconds, or one second less than it did to catch one of Joe's pop flies earlier in the game.

Thanks to me and my stop-watch, you can now add this vital statistic to your sum of knowledge: an umpire requires an average of 3 and 2-5th seconds to whiskbroom home plate unless, of course, the umpire happens to be the American league's John Quinn. The second time I clocked him Quinn had the plate as clean as the tooth of the vainest hound in 1 and 2-5ths seconds. This superb effort seemed to tire him, however, and he never approached that time again.

The next time conversation becomes dull around the dinner table you might throw this informative little gem at your companions: It takes the average player 6 and 3-5th seconds to reach first base after he has been walked by the pitcher. This does not apply to Bill Dickey who requires eight seconds.

If this doesn't awaken the flagging interest of your dinner partners come right back with this exclusive nugget: If you have the power to hit a ball to the 407 foot sign in right center field at Yankee stadium, and the speed to run to third in 11 seconds, you'll have a triple.

* * *

The last thing I timed was this: When you're hot and thirsty, and decide to splurge with a cold bottle of pop, it takes one hour and 15 minutes before a boy passes your way.

Nicks Defeat Barnes Club

Service Cabs, Tappans Battle to 7-7 Tie.

Aided by the three-hit pitching of Gross, the Nick's Place softball team romped home with a 7 to 2 victory over the Barnes Manufacturers in a Y. M. C. A. Commercial league battle waged last night on the Blue Goose diamond.

* * *

Although the Nicks connected for only eight hits, they had little trouble in turning them into seven runs when Fetter, Mahoney, Berry and Appleman brought their long-range artillery into action.

Fetter and Mahoney smashed out a two-base hit apiece, while both Berry and Appleman connected for triples. Karsmiski, of the Barnes outfit, blasted out the only home run of the game when he caught hold of one in the fourth inning.

The other Commercial league game played by the Service Cabs and Tappan clubs last night ended in a 7 to 7 tie. The game was called at the end of the 11th inning because of darkness. No box score for this game was turned in.

EIGHT SOFTBALL TEAMS PLAY INITIAL GAMES

Eight clubs in the Y.M.C.A. Independent softball league are scheduled to take the field tonight in their fight for the loop championship.

Games on the docket for tonight are: Wesco vs. Safety Cabs at Davey field, Alta Lumbers vs. All State Freight at North Lake park, Tavernettes vs. Mansfield Wrecking at Blue Goose field, and Tinkey vs. Wemco at Liberty park.

Enables Club To Chalk Up Sixth Straight

Mansfield Uses Three Pitchers to Halt Lima; Play at Fairground at 8:15 P. M. Today.

By CHARLES MARTIN

ELDON DICE, rookie centerfield, today is the man of the hour as far as the Mansfield Braves are concerned.

The youthful slugger stepped to the plate in the seventh inning with his team trailing by a 7 to 6 count and poled out a home run with two teammates on the paths to give the Braves a 9 to 8 decision over the second-place Pandas in an Ohio State league tussle at Lima last night.

It was Mansfield's sixth straight triumph and left it a half a game out of the runner-up berth in the circuit championship race.

There is, however, considerable gloom hanging over the Braves' wigwam for they are without the services of a first-string catcher. Carl Foldenauer, who has been handling the backstop assignment since Tim Mangan suffered a split finger recently, suffered the same kind of injury in the fifth inning of last night's setto. He finished the game, but Manager Stover sent out an SOS call today for a paddist.

George Laurila will take over the mound duties at 8:15 p. m. today when the Braves attempt to hand the Pandas their third straight defeat and climb into sole possession of second place.

* * *

Tonight will be the Mansfield Retail Merchants' employe night and club officials early today predicted a record gathering.

Three Mansfield pitchers saw service last night against the hard-hitting Pandas and Stan Kudelvitz received credit for the win.

Stover started Alex Radomuis, southpaw from Fargo-Moorhead, N. D., in the Northern league, and the youngster lasted five innings. Bob Arnold replaced him in the sixth, but he had to be relieved by Kudelvitz in that stanza.

Mansfield hopped into the lead in the first chapter with a two-run splurge and maintained the advantage until the Pandas began solving Radomuis' slants in the sixth. They fell behind in that frame, but Dice's homer took care of the situation.

Matt Miazga also connected for a home run in the third inning. His clout came with the bases empty.

In Mansfield's big seventh, Al Hundemer led off with a triple to left center and Beals, who got three singles, sent him home with a sharp crack to center.

Cisco replaced Robertson on the hill and Miazga singled. Stover and Dick Morse were easy outs. And then came Dice game-winning sock.

Beals' three singles gave him top honors at the plate last night. The only Braves who failed to hit safely were Foldenauer, Arnold and Kudelvitz. Mansfield collected 11 hits.

The Braves have something extra to shoot at tonight. Numerous prizes will be offered for the Braves turning in outstanding performances. The Rahl Radio Service is offering three dollars for the first home run hit by a Brave.

* * *

Joe C. Hartline, club president, announced that cash prizes will be awarded by the City Loan for other accomplishments. The pitcher with the most strikeouts, the player with the first sacrifice, the Brave who scores the first run, first double and first triple will receive a dollar. A home run with two on base will bring a Brave player two dollars, while one with the sacks loaded will bring the owner three dollars.

Aces Shave 5 Strokes From Early Guesses

Golf Experts Decide Tricky Canterbury Course Not So Tricky After All.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Golfdom's aces, noting four sub-par performances so far in the tune-up for the National Open tournament, shaved five strokes today from their guesses of what it will take to lead the field of 170 starters and allowed that the supposedly tricky Canterbury course was not so formidable.

Several players expressed belief a 285 would win the title, but earlier it was estimated it would take 290.

* * *

Principally responsible for this change of opinion is swarthy Olin Dutra, 1934 Open champion, who skimmed over the course with a blistering 34-34—68, four below par.

This tied the score shot previously by Ben Hogan of Texas and equalled the record for the lengthened Canterbury layout.

Shooting so straight he never left the fairway. Dutra turned in a more impressive score than Hogan, since the Californian played to the regular greens, somewhat longer than the temporary greens on which Hogan nicked par.

Hogan was consistent, turning in a second par-cracking score, 34-37—71, in two days. Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J., trimmed par with 37-33—70.

Sam Snead, Craig Wood and the aces from the Argentine—Martin Pose and Aurelio Castanon—equalled par.

* * *

The 72-hole championship play doesn't start until Thursday, but other competition gets under way today in the form of a pitching and putting contest open to all tournament players.

LEAGUE MEETS TONIGHT

A special meeting of all boys in the Friendly House Junior Baseball league has been called for 7:30 tonight at the Settlement, Mike Wentz, Friendly house athletic advisor, said today. All boys participating in the league competition are urged to attend the meeting.

Golfers Resume Play in Class 'B'

Teams in The Mansfield News-Journal Class "B" golf loop will enter their second week of competition Thursday when they take to the fairways at Possum Run links.

* * *

Following last week's inaugural matches, the Junior Association of Commerce, City News, and Tinkey Lumber clubs found themselves in a three-way tie for first place.

* * *

This Thursday's matches are: Tinkey's vs. City News, News-Journal vs. Tuckers, Elks club vs. Junior Association of Commerce, and Central Fruit vs. Bissman company.

BUDDY WALKER SCORES VICTORY IN 3 ROUNDS

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Breezing through to his 20th heavyweight victory, Jack (Buddy) Walker, Columbus negro, stowed away Eddie Mader of New York City last night in three rounds, one minute and 55 seconds of a scheduled 10 round go.

Mader's handlers threw in the towel when their protege went down for the second time in the fourth stanza. Walker scored almost at will. Walker weighed 194; Mader 189.

TURN DOWN APPLICATIONS FOR LOOP FRANCHISES

CHICAGO —(AP)— Applications of Toledo and Canton, O., for franchises in the national basketball league have been turned down.

These cities were shut out of the circuit along with two other franchise applicants—Milwaukee for Fort Wayne, Ind.—as directors rejected a proposal to enlarge the eight-team league for the 1940-41 season.

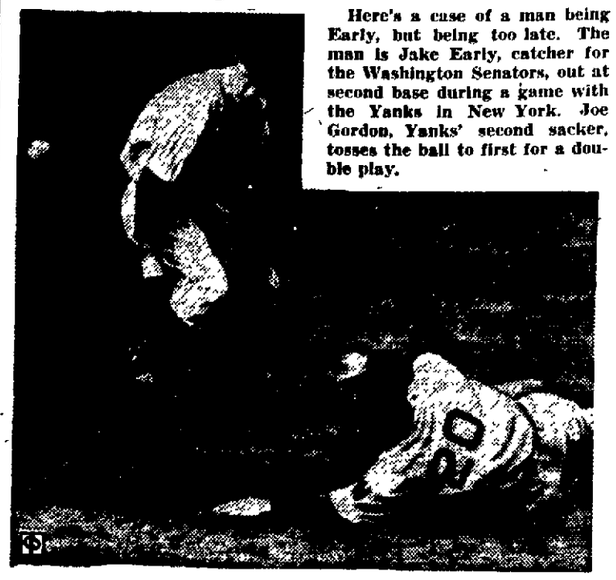
Man's Early But He's Late Too



Here's a case of a man being Early, but being too late. The man is Jake Early, catcher for the Washington Senators, out at second base during a game with the Yanks in New York. Joe Gordon, Yanks' second sacker, tosses the ball to first for a double play.

The Standings

Dean Leaves For Minors

Great Dizzy Asks Wrigley To Send Him Back.

CHICAGO —(AP)— The oblivion accorded worn-out ball players beckons to Dizzy Dean, but the one-time great pitcher isn't bowing out without one last desperate gamble.

* * *

Always a fighter with a great heart, Dizzy refuses to give up hopes of again becoming a star big league hurler.

A few days ago Dean asked Owner Phil Wrigley of the Chicago Cubs to send him back to the minors where he plans to experiment with a new delivery. Wrigley agreed and the club announced yesterday all big league teams had waived on Dean, thereby setting the stage for his return to the minors.

The plan is to option Dean to Tulsa, a Cub affiliate, in the Texas league, in which circuit he began his amazing flight to major league stardom.

Recently Dr. George Bennett of Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore told Dean he was through as an overhand pitcher. He suggested Dizzy try a side-arm delivery.

* * *

"We can't try out Dr. Bennett's suggestion in the big leagues," explained Dizzy's wife, Patricia. "The majors aren't for experiments, so we want to go back to the minors and see what happens."

OHIO STATE ENTERS TEAM IN CONFERENCE MEET

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—(AP)—Ohio State's entry in the 15th annual central collegiate conference track and field championships at Marquette Stadium Friday raised to six today the number of western conference schools competing. Other Big Ten entries are Indiana, Purdue, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Northwestern.

SEEKS GAMES

Tribe Nears Goal

Enters Four-Game Series With Senators Only One Tilt Behind Boston.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Trailing the league-leading Boston Red Sox by only one game, the Cleveland Indians moved into Washington today with an outside chance of knocking the bean pot boys out of first place.

A twin victory over the Senators in today's double-header opening a four-game series might turn the trick.

Hopefully, Manager Oscar Vitt nominated Mel Harder for one of the pitching jobs. His second selection gave him fewer qualms—Southpaw Al Smith, who seeks his fifth straight victory.

The Senators will send Ken Chase and Walter Masterson against the Tribe.

Al Milnar was the hero as the Indians blanked the Philadelphia Athletics 4 to 0 yesterday to even their series and cut Boston's lead.

Pitching seven-hit ball, Milnar turned in his seventh victory against one loss, leading the league, and helped Cleveland to its fifth shutout win.

Ray Mack rediscovered his batting secret, leading the Indians' attack with a home run and two singles. The circuit clout came in the fourth inning after Chubby Dean blanked the Tribe for three innings. Dean walked Hal Trosky, who was forced by Jeff Heath. Russ Peters tripled, scoring Heath, and Mack's homer put Cleveland in front 3 to 0.

Mack's single and Rollie Hemsley's double produced the Indians' fourth run in the sixth inning.

Softball Meet Set for Marion

Medal Tournament Gets Under Way June 30.

A Golden Medal softball tournament will be staged at Marion Sunday, June 30, and Thursday, July 4th, Robert Putman of Marion, sponsor of the tournament, announced today.

* * *

Any teams wishing to enter the tournament may get the necessary details by writing Putman at 605 Wood street, Marion, Ohio. Deadline for filing entries is June 26.

* * *

It is likely that the Sons of Herman softball team of Mansfield will enter the tournament, Putman said. The Sons of Herman team played under the Deluxe Cab banner last season.

A trophy will be presented to the winner of the tournament.

Heroes and Goats

(By International News Service)

HEROES—Dolph Camilli, Brooklyn first baseman, whose homer enabled the Dodgers to defeat the Chicago Cubs; Al Milnar, Cleveland pitcher, who won his seventh game of the season by shutting out the Philadelphia Athletics for the first time this year.

GOATS — Joe Bowman, Pittsburgh pinch-hitter, who tripped rounding third base with the tying run in the ninth; Fritz Ostermueller, Boston Red Sox pitcher, who gave up six runs in four innings as the Red Sox lost valuable ground in the pennant race.

STOPS WALLACE

GARFIELD, N. J.—Tippy Larkin, 137, Garfield, knocked out Frankie Wallace, 138, Cleveland (4).

Western Clubs Invade East

Association Teams Ready For 10-Game Visit.

(By Associated Press)

If home grounds mean anything to a ball club, now is the logical time for the American Association's eastern teams to move into a contending position.

* * *

So far the association race has been a carbon copy of the 1939 chase when Kansas City and Minneapolis were in a class by themselves, the Blues winning out by a healthy margin in a late spurt. No games were scheduled yesterday.

The four western clubs begin tonight their second invasion of the east—Kansas City at Louisville, Minneapolis at Toledo, Milwaukee at Indianapolis and St. Paul at Columbus. Each has 10 games scheduled on this trip.

The Blues, who now have a game and a half lead on Minneapolis and a seven-game lead on third place Indianapolis, won only six of 11 games in their first swing around the east. But back at home they won 23 and lost seven.

OUTPOINTS WILSON

CHICAGO—Leo Rodak, 133½, Chicago, outpointed Jackie Wilson, 128½, Pittsburgh (10).

TABULATE BIDS FROM 8 FIRMS ON STREET JOBS

City Engineers Study Offers On Improvements Ordered On 5 Thoroughfares.

City engineers today were tabulating bids submitted by eight firms on improvements planned for five streets in the southwest part of the city.

The bids were opened yesterday by Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton. He said tabulation would probably be completed today but that contracts would not be awarded until Mayor William J. Locke returns from his vacation. The mayor is expected back Saturday.

The projects include the grading and graveling of Poplar, Sloane and Barnard avenues and the construction of a sanitary sewer on Overlook avenue, Coleman road and Barnard and Sloane avenues.

Entire cost of the improvements has been estimated at $15,350. City council authorized the improvements at its May 7 meeting and approved the issuance of $14,100 in notes in anticipation of the collection of assessments to meet the property owners' share of the cost. The city's share is figured at $650.

Bids on the Poplar and Sloane avenue improvements were submitted by Roger J. Au, George B. Herring and Son, R. O. Darling and Son and G. L. Rogers, all of Mansfield, and Richard A. Thayer, Galion, and Thompson-Coni and company, Columbus.

Bidders on the Barnard avenue grading and graveling were Au, Herring, Darling and Rogers.

On the construction of the sanitary sewer proposals were submitted by Au, Darling, Thompson-Coni, the Dell Construction company, Cleveland, and Frank Morelli, Fort Wayne, Ind.

Battery D Sets up Own Portective Guard Regulations

Although no unusual precautionary measures have been inaugurated in Ohio to protect armories, state arsenals or military equipment, measures to protect Battery D equipment at the Mansfield Armory, have been instituted there, according to Capt. R. J. Nichols.

At present no one is admitted to the Armory except on regular drill nights, Nichols said, and the building is no longer being used for public affairs.

Nichols said these precautionary measures were instituted at the Armory some time ago. There have been no extra guards placed about the building or grounds, according to Nichols, although there is a watchman there at all times.

In New York Gov. Herbert H. Lehman yesterday ordered 500 members of the national guard and naval militia into active service to guard state armories, arsenals, camps and military equipment, following a conference with Adjt. General Ames Brown.

Homesites For Sale

The first step to owning your own home and stop paying rent is to purchase a lot, so that it will not be a financial burden to build your home. That lot should be improved, all improvements such as water, gas, electricity and street improvement should be in and paid for—building restrictions should be imposed and allotment should be approved FHA. That is the case in Country Club Addition. The first cost is the only cost. Lots are priced below improvement costs $100 to $350 with payments as low as $5 monthly Drive out and see for yourself. PAM—Lil!

By A. W. Brewerton

BACK TO PAM AND CLARE AT THE HOSPITAL
OH—THEY'D TREATED ME ALL RIGHT TILL THEY HAD THIS WRECK, CLARE!—I HAD BEEN SCARED TO DEATH, OF COURSE—BUT WHEN IT DEVELOPED THAT THIS WOMAN LIL KNEW COLONEL CAREY—AND SHE PROMISED TO——
---HELP ME, I FELT BETTER!— YOU SEE, SEVERAL YEARS AGO SHE CAME TO COLONEL CAREY TO HANDLE HER DIVORCE CASE—SHE HAD A CHILD—IT'S SINCE DIED— AND THE MAN SHE WAS SEPARATING FROM WANTED TO TAKE THE BABY—COLONEL CAREY PUT UP A HARD FIGHT FOR HER AND WON THE CASE, AND SHE WAS DEEPLY GRATEFUL TO HIM!
---SHE HAD NO IDEA IT WAS COLONEL CAREY THEY WERE FIGHTING WHEN SHE HELPED KIDNAP ME!— SHE TREATED ME VERY KINDLY, RISKED HER LIFE TRYING TO GET HELP TO US, AND THEY CAUGHT HER AT IT—AND SHE FELT CERTAIN THEY WERE GOING TO KILL HER!
—OH—I WONDER, IF—IF SHE WAS SAVED!—SHE—HAD LOTS OF GOOD IN HER, I KNOW!—WANTED TO GO STRAIGHT—BUT SOME TERRIBLE MAN NAMED—DAN—BIG DAN, SHE CALLED HIM—HAD SOME SORT OF HOLD ON HER!—OH—I HOPE DAVID WAS ABLE TO RESCUE HER!

TRADERS WAIT ITALIAN MOVE IN WAR SCENE

Stock Market Regains Balance In Spite of Confusing European Reports.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—The stock market regained its balance today in the face of further confusing European war bulletins.

The principal question confronting speculative forces, brokers said, still had to do with Italy's becoming an active belligerent.

Restraining sellers was the generally hopeful brand of business developments at home, including the rearmament spending program.

Bonds and commodities were steady. "Free" sterling and the French franc were lower in terms of the dollar.

Stocks receiving support were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Lockheed, Chrysler, Westinghouse, Eastman Kodak Celanese, Loft, International Paper, American Telephone, Anaconda and Kennecott. Rails, utilities and rubbers held to a slim groove.

Financial quarters studied the condition statement of Federal Reserve member banks in 101 cities for the week ended May 29, disclosing a drop of $27,000,000 in commercial, industrial and agricultural loans. It was the fifth decline in six weeks.

A hopeful indicator was seen in estimates sales of building supply companies in May topped the same 1939 month by 20 per cent.

100,000 Visitors Expected to See Van Wert Peonies

(Picture on Page 6)

VAN WERT —(AP)— Bleachers were erected on Main street today as the vanguard of an estimated 100,000 visitors arrived for Van Wert's ninth annual peony festival.

Decorations festooned the thoroughfares, many of them bordered with the colorful blossoms which have made Van Wert unique among Ohio cities.

A ball in the armory tonight will honor pretty Jeanne Lewis, "Queen Jubilee IX," whose formal coronation is to take place at the hands of State Highway Director Robert S. Beightler, while newsreel cameras grind following tomorrow afternoon's parade.

Both the parade and the coronation ceremony will be repeated Wednesday evening, with a massed concert by 4,500 musicians at the high school stadium.

DIES AT 80

Gold Star Mother Had Lived In Mansfield Entire Life.

Mrs. Anna Cromer Donahue, 80, of 130 Dale avenue, died Monday at the Eleanor Thomas hospital. She was born in Mansfield March 6, 1860 and had lived here all her life.

Mrs. Donahue was a Gold Star mother. Her son, Earl Hartford served with Company L, the 329 Infantry, and died of injuries received overseas during the World war. She was a member of the First United Brethren church, the Star class of the Sunday school and the American Legion auxiliary.

Surviving are three sons, James Donahue, Grover Donahue and George Jameison; a brother, Ed Cromer and a grandson, Joseph Donahue, all of Mansfield.

The body was removed to the Finefrock funeral home where services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday in charge of Rev. James L. Boyer. Burial will be in Mansfield cemetery.

Writer Says Italians Repair Nazi Bombing Plane

TROOPS PACK FRONTIER IN WAR REGALIA

Heavy Artillery Moved Into Alps; Airdromes Loaded With Fighting Ships.

(Editor's Note: Italy is not yet at war, but the Rome-Berlin axis is functioning to the extent that Italian workmen are repairing German war planes when the need arises. This exclusive disclosure is contained in the following dispatch from Merrill Mueller, staff correspondent of International News Service, who has just returned to Paris from Bucharest.)

By MERRILL MUELLER

PARIS—(INS)—Italian aircraftsmen at Milan on Saturday repaired a German JU-88 bombing plane damaged during the Nazi air raid on Marseilles, this correspondent is able to reveal today.

Also, the Italian frontier is now pack-jammed with troops — the strongest possible indication that Premier Mussolini's entry into the war is not far away.

Returning to Paris from the Balkans by way of Italy, I landed at the Milan airport at 4 p. m. yesterday and was surprised to see Italian mechanics swarmed about what was obviously a German military airplane.

As a licensed pilot, I may lay claim to knowledge of the machines of various nations, and of this there was no doubt.

I walked as close as possible to the plane and found that its right wing and motor had been damaged by anti-aircraft fire. Its German crew was on hand directing the Italian workers in their repairs.

The ship had just set down on the airport. It signified an interesting chapter in this war and I would have liked to learn more about it and the raid in which it participated, but the Italian police on duty at the field made clear they did not approve of my curiosity.

The upshot was that they questioned me and then escorted me off the field. There was nothing else to do but take my train to the border via Genoa.

Along the entire route we passed troop trains and supply trains moving northward in ceaseless procession. I was forced to remain overnight near the Italian border and was amazed to find literally thousands of Italian officers scattered through the various towns although comparatively few private soldiers were in evidence.

I saw heavy artillery being moved into the Italian Alps and viewed airdromes loaded with Italian war planes. Ostensibly, the ships were massed for celebration of National Aeronautical week, but their strategic placements cannot be overlooked.

The walls of buildings throughout Italy are now plastered with posters praising Mussolini not only as Il Duce and leader of the Italian people, but as "empire builder."

Italian newspapers and magazines are full of articles calling pointed attention to the fact that Italy's great fleet and air force are compelled to operate in what is bitterly termed "English territory—meaning the Mediterranean.

CATCH TO IT

PITTSBURGH —(U.P.)— Six girls will be sent to Mt. Union college, Alliance, O., on scholarships set up in the will of Mrs. Josephine M. Brenneman, of Pittsburgh. But there's a catch:

General Who Tried Mitchell Now Agrees He Was Right In Demanding Planes.

combat planes with heavy guns.

Before he died in 1936, Mitchell designed one combat plane capable of carrying a one-inch cannon with two machine guns on each wing. His plans were pigeonholed.

Now, in 1940, the Army air service is complaining that combat planes have too little fire power. This was disclosed by the recent testimony of Maj. Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air corps, before a senate committee.

Arnold said:

"When we saw the results accomplished abroad, it became apparent to us that we were on the wrong track; that we should get something besides volume of power. We had to get fire power, which meant an increase in the size of calibre of the weapons we used."

Mitchell, in 1920, startled Congress with his claims that military bombers could sink battleships. The navy disputed the claims, and congress authorized a test off the Virginia Capes.

Under trying conditions laid down by the navy, Mitchell's bombers sank battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines. Two were German warships turned over to the United States after the first World war.

In 1925, Mitchell was ordered courtmartialed when he criticised the loss of a navy bomber on a flight to Hawaii and the collapse of the dirigible Shenandoah.

Mitchell said: "These accidents were the result of incompetency, criminal negligence and almost treasonable administration of national defense."

He was found guilty of conduct prejudicial to good order and military discipline. The court's sentence was a five-year suspension from rank and all pay and allowances. President Coolidge commuted the sentence to suspension to five years and half pay. Mitchell resigned on Feb. 21, 1926, and died Feb. 19, 1936.

On the court which tried him were nine generals, including Winans, former commandant at West Point and one of the commanders of the 32nd division in France.

TRAFFIC CLUB HOLDS OUTING

Annual Event Gets Under Way At Westbrook With Golf And Dinner Scheduled.

About 175 golfers teed off shortly after noon today at Westbrook Country club as the Central Ohio Traffic club's annual outing and golf tournament got under way.

Winners in the tourney will receive prizes at a dinner meeting at 7 p. m. today at the clubhouse, with R. E. Woodruff, Cleveland, president of the Erie Railroad company, making the awards. Toastmaster will be George W. Stephens, president and general manager of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

At least 225 representatives of industrial firms and transportation companies throughout Ohio and neighboring states are expected to attend the dinner tonight.

The traffic club's "big event" of the year, the outing and tourney marks one day when the members and their prominent guests forget business and go out to show how their score has improved since last year.

Arrangements for today's program were in charge of George A. Swineford, traffic manager of the Empire Sheet and Tin Plate company and former president of the Central Ohio club.

SEEBURGER SAYS HE'LL CLOSE STATION TO PERMIT VACATIONS

Mansfield city firemen will have their summer vacations even though one of the sub-stations has to be closed for three and a half months, according to Fire Chief Charles Seeburger.

The only alternative is an emergency fund granted by city council for the appointment of four more firemen before June 15, when vacations start. No such proposal, however, is included in the material that goes before city council tonight.

The problem arises from the fact that the state recently forced the city of Mansfield to put all firemen on a 72-hour-a-week working basis, instead of the 84 hours on duty which they formerly had to serve.

To comply with that order, when council refused to provide funds for additional men, Seeburger shifted several men from the substations to other positions, shortening all hours by cutting down the number of men on each shift.

This arrangement will not permit time off for vacations, Seeburger said today, without entirely closing one station.

"My men are not going to sacrifice their vacations," he said, "just because there aren't enough men to properly man the fire department. I don't know yet which station will be closed for the summer. There will be a lot of squawks regardless of which one it is, so it doesn't make much difference so long as it isn't Central station."

Firemen's vacations are scheduled to start June 15, with two weeks with pay for each one.

Other city employes who have served for one year consecutively will be given vacations with pay also and these will get under way this month, according to Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton.

FRIENDS HELP HIM LOSE JOB

Election Meant $3,000 Loss To Pittsburgh Official.

PITTSBURGH —(AP)— Friends thought they were doing Edward F. McCafferty, jr., a good turn by electing him Democratic county committeeman but he doesn't agree.

McCafferty wasn't even listed on the ballot, claimed he didn't consent to a sticker campaign in his behalf and that he had resigned. Still he was dismissed from a $3,000 a year job as chief clerk of the Pittsburgh Registration Commission. The law prevents such employes from holding public office.

JUROR UPSETS ARGUMENTS OF LAWYERS IN CLOVERSEED CASE

A farmer juror who knows his clover seed upset the arguments of three attorneys in common pleas court yesterday after they had spent most of the day with a case involving a dispute over eight bushels of clover seed.

Discussion in the case centered on the question of whether there could be eight bushels of clover seed "tailings" in 142 bushels of timothy seed, harvested early in the summer.

After attorneys, apparently confused by the unfamiliar subject, argued it without getting anywhere, the juror told them he knew from experience that timothy harvested early would not have anything in it but some worthless seed and hulls, known to millers as "tailings." Name of the juror was withheld by the court.

When the jury returned its verdict after 30 minutes deliberation it found for the plaintiff in the case who had contended there was not enough clover seed left to quarrel about.

H. H. Fackler, the plaintiff, was awarded a judgment for $52.50, representing the $50 he had deposited with J. C. Holtz, the defendant, as a guarantee, and the interest on it.

Holtz, Cass township farmer, filed a cross-petition in the action, seeking $30 from Fackler in addition to the $50 deposit. Holtz contended there was at least eight bushels of clover seed in the timothy and valued it at $80. The $30 he asked was the difference between the estimated value and Fackler's deposit. Fackler had agreed to clean the clover seed and return the "tailings" to Holtz.

The case came into common pleas court on an appeal from a Cass township justice of peace court decision which gave both Fackler and Holtz $25 and ordered them to split the costs.

Court attaches said costs of yesterday's trial would be more than $50 and Holtz would be required to pay them.

Atty. L. H. Beam was counsel for Fackler and Attys. J. V. Will and Theodore Lutz for Holtz.

WOULD LEASE SITE TO STATE

Councilman Miller Will Ask Arrangement for Roadside Park at Airport.

A proposal for the city of Mansfield to lease a strip of ground along the North Main street road at the airport to the state highway department for a roadside park will be presented to city council tonight by Councilman Fred Miller.

The proposal specifies a strip 800 feet long and 200 feet wide at west side of the airport grounds, and running along North Main street. The park would be similar to highway park sites which have been set up all over the state.

The most important legislation that will come before council tonight is the assessing ordinance, which assesses the owners' share of last year's street improvements against property holders. Although a routine procedure, it is important, it was pointed out, because the taxes must go on the September duplicates.

The meeting of council tonight is the regular session for the first of the month, but will be the fourth time the body has met since the May meeting. There were three special meetings last month on the West Fourth street paving project, and in addition were more than a dozen special committee meetings.

Hobby Club Plans Trip to Institute And Ford Museum

The Buckeye Hobby club will sponsor an excursion trip to Greenfield Village and Edison Institute in Detroit sometime this summer, it was announced today, following a meeting of the group in the Y. M. C. A. last night.

The trip will be open to any adult in Mansfield and surrounding towns. No date has been set for the excursion.

Donald D. Cram, "Y" physical director, is chairman of the trip, and working with him on arrangements are Carl Pollock and David Ireland. The club also made plans to hold a picnic at Mifflin lake later this month. Mrs. W. J. Wampfler is picnic chairman.

Motion pictures of the club's recent hobby show, taken by Ralph B. Chapman and Carl Pollock, were shown, and Guy Shawk, program chairman, gave a short talk on "Hobbies."

with his troops and threatened with destruction, had to decide between the welfare of his people and considerations of prestige.

According to Leopold's friend, Hubert Pierlot, premier of Belgium, and other cabinet members urged the king to flee with them.

Leopold replied that "regardless of what my fate may be, I shall stay with my Belgian army. Regardless of what may happen to my Belgian people, I I shall go back to them."

Thereupon the cabinet members, according to this friend, fled to a safe place (Paris) and from there "threw mud at their sovereign after taking the Belgian treasury with them."

QUOTA TOPPED, RED CROSS ASKS FURTHER RELIEF

Unprecedented Conditions In Europe Cited as Gifts Pass $7,000 Mark.

The Richland County chapter of the Red Cross will continue to take subscriptions to the war relief fund, despite the fact that the original quota of $6,000 has been topped by more than a thousand dollars.

The announcement was made today by D. O. Meese, general chairman of the drive, who said that the chapter had been asked to double its original quota. The increasing misery and privation in Europe, which the American Red Cross is striving to alleviate, calls for increasing funds, according to national headquarters in Washington.

Red Cross organizations from other parts of the world are sending money, supplies and workers into the war area, but the world's best efforts are not enough to cope with the situation which is unprecedented in history, Red Cross officials said today.

Mansfield and Shelby have raised $6,682 and the remainder of the county $367, making a total of $7,049. A number of the rural and county districts have not yet reported on the quotas allotted them in the drive.

Meese said that no second drive would be made at this time but that the books would be kept open for all contributions. The chapter, he said, will depend upon the generosity of citizens to answer the plea for further funds.

PREMIER SAYS 335,000 SAVED IN EVACUATION

Churchill Announces Allied Losses at 30,000 Men In Flanders Trap.

"we must expect another blow to be struck almost immediately at us or at the French," and he declared vigorously:

"Britain will carry this war to victory if necessary for years—if necessary alone."

Some observers wondered if the "alone" comment may have been linked with a London report several days ago that Hitler was preparing to offer separate peace to Britain and France in an attempt to split the Allies.

Both nations have vowed they would not accept individual peace.

Churchill acknowledged that all the channel ports are now in German hands, including Dunkerque.

Churchill disclosed that the R. A. F. used "part of the main metropolitan fighter strength" assigned to guard London, to strike at German bombers and their protecting fighters who were harassing the movement of the troops across the channel.

He told the cheering house that Britain "shall not be content with a defensive war" and said the nation would never surrender and never give up the struggle against German tyranny.

"We will reconstitute and build up the B. E. F. once again under its gallant commander in chief, Lord Gort," he said.

The fighting prime minister said that although some good judges had told him that 20,000 or 30,000 men might be re-embarked "it certainly seemed" as though the whole of the French first army and the B. E. F. north of Amiens and the Abbeville gap might be lost.

When he set the time for withdrawal a week ago, he continued, "I feared it would be my hard lot to announce the greatest military disaster in our long history."

However, he said, the Allies must be very careful not to assign "to this deliverance the attributes of a victory."

"Wars are not won by evacuations," the prime minister said.

He said the British resistance at Calais had enabled the Allies to keep the port of Dunkerque open.

"Their sacrifice was not in vain, at least," he said, speaking of the men who had refused the German demand to surrender within an hour and instead had held out for four days.

"Two armored divisions which otherwise would have been turned against the British expeditionary force had to be sent for to overcome them."

Churchill said the B. E. F. lost nearly 1,000 guns in Flanders, and said the men who were withdrawn were "brought back from the jaws of death by a miracle of deliverance."

"The whole root and core and brain of the British army around which we were to build—and are to build—the greater British armies of later years appeared about to perish or to be led into ignominious and starving captivity," Churchill said.

He acknowledged that all channel ports were in Hitler's hands and warned that "we must expect another blow will be struck almost immediately at us or at the French."

Nazis Tighten Up on Censorship.

BERLIN — (AP) — Germany clamped the lid of censorship tighter today on mail, telephone and telegraph service between the Reich and neutral nations.

The army high command became the final authority on censorship and communication—including the transmission of news to non-belligerent countries.

Under order of Col. Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, chief of the high command, no news about the military, economic or political situation can be sent "which would endanger the welfare of the Reich or the states with whom she is allied or on friendly terms."

Parachute Troops Carry Heavy Guns.

LONDON—(U.P.)—War Secretary Anthony Eden said in the house of commons today that German parachute troops, in addition to carrying the usual small arms of a soldier are equipped with heavy machine guns, infantry guns and light howitzers.

Eden said that during recent operations "the enemy deliberately bombed hospital carriers in circumstances admitting of no mistake regarding their identity and in complete disregard of the immunity given them by international agreements to which the German government is party."

He said that major acceleration of the British army was in progress and said that the maximum number of men to be trained would be called up this month.

Report House-to-House Fight Continues In Streets Of Dunkerque.

mand said only nine German planes were missing. It said Allied night raids on Holland and southern and western Germany met with success "just as small as hitherto."

While getting set for the next blow, Germany took extraordinary steps in an effort to convince the United States that she has no desire to see the western hemisphere involved in the war and that she is taking unusual measures to avoid even accidental affront to America.

The foreign office formally warned the governments of the United States, Mexico and Panama that "British agents" have been dispatched to Central America in large numbers to manufacture "evidence" which would create an impression the reich is launching an ambitious program to weaken America.

The three American nations were advised that the British agents would spread false stories of German machinations in Mexico and Nazi plots to sabotage the Panama canal.

At the same time Germany repeated warnings of alleged British plans to sink the United States liners President Roosevelt, Washington and Manhattan under circumstances which would make the Germans appear guilty. The liners are engaged in bringing American citizens home from the European war zone.

The emphasis placed on the warnings made it appear to Germans that the reich is more worried over the possibilities of "enemy intrigue" than over opposition on the battlefield.

Military authorities said the raid on Paris had been aimed solely at military objectives—primarily airports near the city—and repeated denials of French assertions that the capital itself had been bombed.

DNB, the official German news agency, countered the French claims by reporting that British planes had bombed a railway bridge and highway near the French channel port of Gravelines while they were being used by a throng of French prisoners and civilian refugees.

More than 30 persons, all French, were killed, DNB said. The dead included three women, it said.

Spokesmen said it was an inescapable fact that the Germans had cleaned out Holland and Belgium and occupied the channel ports in three weeks, taking at least 330,000 French and British prisoners in the operation.

Some quarters, including the German radio, figured the total number of prisoners captured at 1,200,000 by including the members of the capitulated Dutch and Belgian armies.

transfer and would not acquiesce in any attempt to transfer any geographical region of the western hemisphere from one non-American power to another non-American power." It adds:

"If such a transfer or attempt to transfer should appear likely, the United States shall, in addition to other measures, immediately consult with other American republics to determine upon steps which should be taken to safeguard their common interests."

The 21 American republics, including the United States, are already pledged by the 1938 declaration at Lima, Peru, to collaborate in maintaining the principles on which present pan-American "solidarity" is based and to consult in event of any foreign activity or intervention that threatens the peace of this hemisphere.

The Pittman-Bloom legislation was indicative of an increasing preoccupation with hemisphere problems, as congress and federal agencies forced ahead with the multiple details of the national preparedness program.

Some lawmakers voiced concern over current reports of "fifth column" activity in South America. Senator Connally (D., Tex.) suggested yesterday that if infiltration was occurring, the United States should order warships to aid the republics endangered. Administration sources indicated, however, that any action taken would be in collaboration with other Latin American nations.

House Republicans, meanwhile, voiced a unanimous demand that congress abandon its intention to adjourn late this month and stay in session "as long as the interests of the country require."

Judges Checking Ages, Other Data; Alternates Chosen.

Winners in the "Let's Explore Ohio" contest will be announced as soon as judges have verified the ages of the two winners and ascertained if they will be able to make the trip.

Three "honorable mentions" were named to serve as alternates. If one of the winners is unable to make the trip, or is out of the age limit, the first "honorable mention" would be substituted.

The winners will be taken on a 1,000 mile motor trip to the most interesting spots in Ohio sometime this month. The contest, conducted by The News-Journal and the Standard Oil company, was for the two best letters of about 100 words, on the "most interesting spot in Ohio."

major step Mussolini intends taking.

A warlike atmosphere was cast about the cabinet meeting by a nation-wide campaign of anti-British and anti-French propaganda, apparently inspired by the Fascist party, together with a steady flow of volunteers for war service from labor, industrial, scientific and political groups.

Presence of a Yugoslav trade delegation created the impression that tension on Italy's northeastern border had eased, at least temporarily.

Authorities acted to stifle criticism of governmental policy, arresting the parish priest of San Dalmazzo, Don Raimondo Viale, for delivering an "anti-national" sermon.

WANT GIBRALTAR

MADRID— (AP) —Renewed student demonstrations yesterday for the return of Gibraltar were reported from half a dozen cities throughout Spain today.

In Granada, university students paraded the streets and then marched to the tomb of Queen Isabel and King Ferdinand where they solemnly swore "we shall not rest until Gibraltar is Spanish again."

evacuation of the Allied rearguard was said to be proceeding "despite ever increasing difficulties."

The possibility that the inactivity along the Somme-Aisne front was only the lull before the storm was indicated, however, by reports of German troop concentrations behind their lines in northern France.

The air ministry said that it was unable, for military reasons, to give any details on the facilities damaged in the Paris area during yesterday's bombing. The official count on the number of German planes shot down remained at 17.

The German bombers, unofficially estimated to number 300, which lashed a broad scar of death and destruction across the face of Paris, established a new front in the war. This was the front of civil life—where schools, hospitals, cottages, apartments and factories were struck and blown apart.

LE HAVRE BOMBED

PARIS—(UNS)—Hard on the heels of an attack on Paris, German war planes raided the important channel port of Le Havre for nearly an hour early today, dropping heavy explosives (eight words censored). Six planes participated in the attack.

Exact time for the bombing was not known in Paris.

Many deaths and injuries were reported. Several German planes were said to have been brought down. Le Havre is the chief terminus of French trans-Atlantic commerce.

EIGHT KILLED NEAR MUNICH

BERLIN —(U.P.)— Eight persons were killed when an Allied airplane raided Allach, a suburb of Munich at 2 a. m., it was reported today.

The raid was on a Bavarian motor works factory in the vicinity of Munich. A single Allied plane was believed to have dropped bombs. One struck the factory and another fell to the ground without exploding.

6 Summer Dances To be Held For Appleseed Pupils

June 12 has been set for the first of six summer dances to be held in the Johnny Appleseed Junior high school gymnasium for junior high school students. It is sponsored by the Appleseed Parent-Teacher association.

Plans for the dances were set after questionnaires, sent to all parents of Appleseed students, had been returned, showing 328 in favor of the summer dances. Twenty were opposed to the plan and three failed to vote either way, according to school officials.

A committee of two teachers and 10 parents was named by Mrs. G. C. Young, dance chairman, to serve as chaperons for the first affair. They are Miss Virginia Stark, Robert Y. Davis, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Boling, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lamb, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. McClure, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Leonard and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Perez.

The dances will start at 7:30 p. m. and end at 10:30, Mrs. Young said. Students will be admitted only on presentation of their school activity card. A floor show made up of junior high school talent will be presented at each dance.

Galion Man Sails From Italy On Liner Manhattan.

GALION—Word has been received here by Mrs. Paul Adams from her husband that he is returning home from war-torn Europe.

Adams, who has been a representative of the International Telephone and Telegraph company in Europe, left Antwerp, Belgium, the day it was bombed. He went to Paris where he stayed for a time before going to Italy.

His cable to Mrs. Adams stated that he would sail from Genoa, Italy, Sunday, June 2, on the Manhattan.

Mrs. Adams, the former Vivian Rigby, and her two children who have been staying with her mother, Mrs. Catherine Rigby in Galion, will leave Sunday for New York where they plan to meet the boat and probably make their home.

Bombing of Paris Minor Incident In Nazi War of Frightfulness

YESTERDAY'S comparatively mild bombing of Paris could scarcely have been unexpected by anyone who has followed the war of frightfulness being carried on by the Nazi hordes that invaded the Scandinavian countries, swept through Holland and Belgium into northern France, and are now making ready for what Hitler believes will be the subjugation of France and the overthrow of Great Britain.

But even after the devastation wrought in Holland and Belgium, the bombing of Paris was big news, with American interest increased by the narrow escape of United States Ambassador William C. Bullitt, who was within a few feet of the spot on which one of the bombs fell.

While the number of people killed or wounded, and the property destroyed during the raid, may seem shocking, when considered by American standards, it is really inconsequential when thought of in association with the ruthless slaughter of human beings and destruction of property that has been going on in Europe for the past several weeks—with tens of thousands killed and hundreds of thousands maimed or mangled.

Nor does this take into account the several million homeless and hopeless refugees who are wandering about in the war-torn countries, seeking means of bare subsistence.

And that is war! The kind of war that the United States now sees the need of being prepared to meet on equal terms if necessity arises—as it has arisen for the present Allies in their valiant struggle to save Europe from the domination of Hitlerism and the resultant setback of civilization.

Nazi influences are at work in Mexico, South American countries, and in the United States, in the form of "fifth column" activities intended to set the stage for the introduction of Hitlerism in the Western Hemisphere, in the event of Allied defeat in Europe.

With a foothold established in Mexico, for instance, there could be little hope that the United States, in its present condition of unpreparedness, would be able to cope successfully against such an onslaught as is now being made upon France and Great Britain.

Yet there are minority groups in the United States whose leaders argue loudly against any steps toward adequate preparedness, and there are organizations in this country whose purpose it is to stir up dissension and to do the bidding of foreign powers, in an effort to overthrow this government—AND THEY HAVE BEEN PERMITTED TO DO THIS BECAUSE OF THE PERSONAL LIBERTY AND FREEDOM OF SPEECH WHICH THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES GUARANTEES TO AMERICAN CITIZENS!

Whatever semblance of neutrality the United States is attempting to maintain as a governmental attitude, there is no substance of neutrality among patriotic American citizens, loyal to the principles upon which this nation was founded and under which it has risen to a greatness that can be destroyed only by internal treachery or exercise of superior military force.

Much has been said in opposition to sending American soldiers to Europe—and this has been right. But if sentiment had been favorable to sending troops, as was done in late stages of the World war, the fact would remain that, under present conditions, there would be no appreciable number of soldiers to send, and that the best this country can do, in support of the Allied cause, is to open the way for supply of munitions of war, and all the other necessary supplies, to the fullest possible extent—and whether the terms are cash or credit, makes little difference at this point in the death struggle that is now going on in France.

It is high time, also, that the United States government, and every patriotic American citizen, should get rid of the fallacy that every alien hireling of a foreign power is entitled to the same freedom of speech and action that is intended for Americans and American institutions!

Flag-Salute Ruling Upheld

AMONG decisions handed down by the United States Supreme Court yesterday was one which upheld the right of a Pennsylvania school board to expel children from a public school because they refused, on religious grounds, to meet the board's requirement that all children in the school, as a part of opening exercises, salute the flag and recite the pledge of allegiance.

In an eight to one decision, with Justice Stone dissenting, the court held that it must "bow to the wisdom of authorities charged with the duty of educating children," and that the case must be viewed as though the legislature of Pennsylvania had formally directed the flag salute which was ordered by the Minersville board.

That there should be one dissenting vote in this decision is not surprising, as the question involved is one in which civil authority seems to clash with the religious freedom guaranteed by the Constitution.

There is also, however, the matter of requirement for rules in conducting a public school system, just as in maintaining orderly processes of government, and those who avail themselves of the opportunities of such schooling should recognize an obligation to conform to laws under which these educational facilities are provided.

It may be doubted if there is any other country in the world in which such a question would be regarded as of sufficient importance to occupy the time and attention of the nation's highest court, nor would persons having a proper estimate of relative values be likely to regard loyalty to their country and respect for its flag as being antagonistic to religious principles.

It seems difficult for some people to realize that, in accepting the privileges of American citizenship, and enjoying the opportunities and freedom accorded them, they must also assume certain obligations and responsibilities.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — A hard-bitten fishing schooner, fresh from the Newfoundland Banks, thrust her nose into a berth along the South Street waterfront just after midnight this morning, and a landing crew went to work on her cargo. She carried 34,000 pounds of codfish in her hold.

A stone's throw away lay another schooner — this one from the Caribbean. To the left lay another, and another, from the Georgian Banks, from everywhere that fish are caught by men who dip down into the sea with nets.

These fish were being hauled to the oldest fish market in the western hemisphere — a market that has been open for business every morning for more than 200 years. This is the famed Fulton Street fish market, where Al Smith worked as a boy.

More than one million and five hundred thousand pounds of fish are delivered to the Fulton Street market every day. That's a lot of fish. These fish are Florida mackerel and cod; they are swordfish and flounder; they are lobster and butterfish and whitefish.

* * *

TO HANDLE these fish 2,000 men are at work in their stalls every morning before five o'clock. These men are employes of the New York Fishmongers Association. The market itself is owned by the city of New York. Two huge stall-like buildings, a hundred yards each in length, house this vast store of sea food. These buildings are leased to the Fishmongers Association by the city.

It is from this point that the scallops and sole, like those you bought today, go out to thousands of retailers all over the city and all over the metropolitan area.

Salt water fish aren't the only ones handled here, for sweet water fish from the great lakes, and great steel-head salmon from the Oregon rivers, still silver, and gleaming, are brought in by boat and by train.

There's a funny story about the mackerel. They used to be known as Spanish mackerel. But after the Spanish Civil war people began to boycott most goods with a Spanish name. Fishermen promptly began calling them "Florida" mackerel—and the sales at once mounted to their normal level.

The most impressionable item about the Fulton Street menage to strangers is the odor. People say they can smell Fulton Street six months after being there. Perhaps that is true. Men who work there tell me they never notice the smell of fish until they are away from it. Then they are uncomfortable; life doesn't seem normal without the heavy, pungent odors that are a part of their daily surroundings.

THE market itself operates largely on a warehouse basis. When the doors are flung open the buyers crowd around and bid for lots. One buyer may be interested solely in butterfish. Another in shellfish. There is a department that features gigantic turtles, and, curiously enough, most turtles in New York wind up in Chinatown. Turtles are known to grow to very old ages. There is a belief among Chinese that if they eat enough turtle flesh they may live to become very old too. At least that's the story.

One of the choicest items at the market, from a "color" point of view, are the frog legs. Many of them come all the way from Japan. The Japanese also send swordfish, huge frozen monsters, and despite the cost of transportation and trade barriers, they sell for just half the price of American swordfish. However, the American variety is called vastly superior in taste.

Health And Diet

Don't Play Jokes On Your Stomach.

—By DR. CLENDENING

MY FRIEND Dr. Adrian Gibbs tells me he said to his thirty thousandth patient the other day, "I am going to prescribe a somewhat peculiar form of treatment for you.

"I advise you to purchase a full length mirror. It should be one of these three-way affairs you find in clothing stores which are designed to make you see how you look with your clothes on. But I want you to use your mirror to see how you look with your clothes off. I have made you strip in order to examine you so I have an advantage over you. And I think that you should really know what you are like.

In the Mirror.

"Because my diagnosis of you is that you have an entirely wrong conception of what kind of a person you are. You are a banker and you tell me that you spent practically all the years of your life between the ages of 20 and 40 sitting down. You enjoyed it and somehow you managed to accumulate quite a good deal of this world's goods. So with this addition to your family you decided, as the saying is, that you were going to enjoy yourself for a while. Somebody advised you to take up golf and you have been playing three times a week and twice on Sundays for the last five years.

"You were told that this would be good for your health, but you do not seem to connect the symptoms you now have with the change from a sitting position to a standing position.

"The reason I want you to look in the mirror is that I think you will immediately realize that you are a natural born sitting person.

Sitting Stomach.

"Furthermore, your habits in other respects have changed since you took up the athletic life. You probably do not realize how adroitly I wormed out of you the kind of lunch you eat at the golf club on the days you regain your health. You eat a good club luncheon which is in quite a contrast to the one you ate when you were a practicing banker. Then you had a bowl of soup, or a glass of milk, perhaps a sandwich and an apple or other piece of fruit. You probably have not taken cognizance of the fact that your stomach is a sitting stomach also, made to fit your body. It is not prepared to take on a load of luxurious foods.

"You have surprised your stomach. You have played a practical joke on it, and nobody likes to have practical jokes played on them. I knew a fellow once in a filling station who was a born practical joker—but I guess we haven't got time to go into his story. The point is he was unpopular with everybody around the filling station, and you are unpopular with your stomach.

"Mr. Pillblaud, exercise has killed more people than I have, and that is a very comprehensive statement.

"You probably are not enjoying what I am saying but after you have honestly looked at yourself naked in a mirror, you come back and we will talk it over some more."

Beware of the man whose dog growls under the house when his master enters the gate.

Listen, World!

Meet the Nazis!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WE NEED not wonder whether there will be a Nazi invasion—it is already here! Their 'fifth column' has penetrated every part of the U. S. A..!" So said the F. B. I. recently, when applying for additional funds to cope with the enormous influx of German spies, saboteurs and propagandists.

Just in case you're unfamiliar with the unique Nazi viewpoint, I'm quoting again from that amazing little book, "LUNACY BECOMES US," Clara Leiser's compilation of authentic statements made by Herr Hitler and his intimate circle. Neither this article—nor Miss Leiser's book—is an indictment of the German people in general, particularly those fine citizens of German descent to whom America owes so much. But as a close-up of the Gas House Gang who've seized control, it may prove useful—if any of Adolf's Advance Guard start working on you.

So you think the Nazi army has been roughing folks up? Listen and learn how wrong you are!

"No European nation has done more for peace than Germany. No nation has made greater sacrifice. . . . Upon whom did we inflict a single injury in these four years or from whom have we taken his possessions?" — Adolf Hitler, 1938.

"Upon the path of our movement there lies not a single one of our opponents murdered by us, not one attempt on the life of our enemies has been made. From the first day, to the present, we have refused to use such outrageous methods. Never have we fought with such weapons."—Adolf Hitler, at the bier of his Swiss agent Gustloff.

"There can only be one yardstick for our conduct, our great unshakeable love for peace!" — Adolf Hitler, 1935.

Oh Yeah! Surely, this can't be the same little boy who had written "Mein Kampf" some years previously! However, Peace isn't the only thing 'Dolf and The Boys are perfectly crazy about. Glance at this romantic program for Love in the Fatherland . . . a program, by the way, which is currently advocated by all the leading German Youth publications.

"Round up a thousand German girls of the purest stock. Isolate them in a camp. Then let them be joined by a hundred German men equally of purest stock. If a hundred such camps were set up, you would have 100,000 thoroughbred children at one stroke."—Dr. William Hentschel, Der Hammer, No. 640.

"The healthy instinct of our people has always esteemed, as highly valuable, the children born out of wedlock."—Dr. L. G. Tirala is "Race, Mind and Soul."

"A future German Reich will never accept a woman without children—it does not matter whether she be married or not—as a full member of the community of people. Consequently, adultery on the part of the man, insofar as offspring result therefrom, should not be made subject to legal prosecution."—Rosenberg's "Mythus."

The Human Female isn't the only biped who's mobilized under Nazi rule. Consider this ultimatum to the Humble Hen.

"We request that every hen lay between 130 and 140 eggs a year. The increase cannot be achieved by the . . . hens (non-Aryan) which now populate German farm yards. Slaughter these undesirables and replace them with hens which the chicken farmers' organizations have found to be the most efficient."—Nazi Party News Agency, 1937.

And as a "comic experience" read this:

"All I had to do was wink, and the brigadiers put the wench over a wooden pole. Then they beat her with horsewhips until there wasn't a white spot left." Herr von Killinger, formerly Adolf Hitler's counsul general on the West Coast of the U. S. A., in a book entitled "Serious and Comic Experiences During a Putsch."

Christianity is completely out of Nazi favor. Lest there be any doubt, Der Fuehrer settles things once for all:

"We are not out against the hundred and one different kinds of Christianity, but against Christianity itself. . . . Even those Christians who really want to serve the people—and there are such—will have to be suppressed." — Der Fuehrer, 1935.

But even as Amiable Adolf was protesting "our unshakeable love of peace" in 1935, General Erich von Ludendorff was making a statement which should shriek its siren warning to every American's mind today.

"IT MUST NOT BE FORGOTTEN THAT IT WILL BE IMPORTANT NOT ONLY TO REST THE ENEMY'S ARMY BUT TO DESTROY THE ENTIRE NATION WITH WHICH WE ARE AT WAR."—General Erich von Ludendorff, from "The Total War," 1935.

Nazi policies and program. How would it seem to have "one thousand American girls of purest stock" put in breeding camps . . . American churches "suppressed." . . . American citizens cringing under "protective custody"?

Planting Peas

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

AS I passed my neighbor's home about 7 in the morning I heard what seemed to be a heated conversation. The farmer and his wife were in the garden below the house. He had a spade in one hand, and she clutched a hoe handle with a heavy grip. Evidently there was difference of opinion.

It seemed, as I pieced sentences together, that he wanted to plant a garden crop of peas on one side of the plot while his wife argued that the other side was best. The air was tense and words were flying hotly. They did not see me, and I did not want to embarrass them by coming upon the scene unannounced. I knew, too, that they did not need a mediator. So I walked up along the drive, threw a clod at a chicken scratching in the strawberry bed, coughed and whistled to the dog. There was a lull. Then footsteps went toward the house.

It was a neat and well kept home. Someone made decisions and acted upon them. The flowers on the lawn, the neat chicken yard, trailing vines about the porch, the awnings above the windows, showed that someone with ambition, energy, and the fire that hastens execution had been about. The farmer came around the house, a trifle flushed.

Have you been waiting long?" he asked me, rather shyly.

"Not long," I told him, hesitantly.

"Mary and I had an argument—maybe you heard us. I can't see why in all creation she wants to plant them peas over there, but she does, and heaven and earth won't change 'er! It's just a little thing—that's why it seems so hard. I think sometimes she would strain at a gnat and swallow a camel."

"But who makes the flower beds?" I asked. "Who cleans up the lawn and plants the vines that screen your porch on summer days? Who keeps the garden clean and plans so that fruits and vegetables are canned and stored for winter? D'ye know, I think you've either had foresight or just plain luck to get the very wife you needed.

"That she takes issues with you about some things, is just the thing that makes a man of you and balances your ways of thinking."

"She says no woman who amounts to much will fall for every male-hatched scheme," he grinned.

"My own experience is," I told him, "that my wife generally sees an angle that I have overlooked. I believe in consulting one's wife—she will never be a silent partner in her husband's business anyway."

"Oh, well—there's dirt on both sides o' the garden. The peas'll grow. What the heck's the difference?"

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Outside of army and navy circles, a vague but persistent optimism seems to pervade Washington that the Allies will come out all right.

"France and Britain just cannot lose," is the typical remark of Washington dowagers. "I'm sure that at the last moment they will come through."

But a careful study of the confidential war bulletins received by the army and navy give absolutely no grounds for such optimism. In fact, to use the bluntest language, it will take a military miracle to prevent an overwhelming German victory, including the occupation of London.

And unfortunately, miracles in modern warfare occur on the side with the most tanks and airplanes.

The fighting which took place in Flanders last week probably was the most desperate in the history of the world, even bloodier than the battles of the Marne and Verdun. Corpes were piled house high. The trapped French and British made the Germans pay in floods of blood for every foot they advanced. They knew that most of them had no chance of escaping, but their objective was to weaken the Germans, give time to General Weygand to strengthen the defenses of Paris.

The key to this war (and also to American defense) is to remember that khaki does not stop machine-gun bullets, while tanks do. Also that it is impossible to whip an enemy whose airplanes can spy out every move and blast that move even before it gets started.

The air and tank preponderance of the Nazis is the crux of their successes.

Roy Howard's Armistice.

DYNAMIC Roy Howard, smartly-attired little boss of the Scripps-Howard newspapers and frequent critic of the New Deal, breezed into the executive offices for a conference with the president. White House reporters immediately rushed forward to interview him.

First question was popped by Felix Belair, crack New York Times newsman. With deadpan innocence; he inquired: "Bringing an armistice, Mr. Howard?"

Howard, whose premature "scoop" on the signing of the World War armistice in 1918 is a newspaper epic, joined in the burst of laughter.

U. S. Rifles to Allies?

THERE is something awfully funny about the war department order of March 14, 1940, prohibiting the sale of surplus army goods to anyone who might even be suspected of passing them to the Allies.

The president of the United States has outlined a policy of helping the Allies in every possible way short of war. The cabinet has worked out a policy of selling the Allies airplanes previously ordered by the army. And yet the war department has issued an order preventing the sale of its surplus goods to any agent of the Allies or anyone even suspected of being an agent.

All this came to light last week when the French and British purchasing missions attempted to buy some Enfield rifles and some 75-MM. field artillery guns held by the army from the World war.

This in itself indicates how desperate is the position of the Allies. One year ago, these guns were considered out of date.

The Enfields are part of 3,000,000 guns manufactured during the World war, in part for the British army. About a million were sold to the Chinese, leaving 1,850,000 in government warehouses. Also in government warehouses are 1,500 field artillery pieces, which General Marshall has said need new gun carriages and would cost $8,000 each to remount.

* * *

Allied Need Desperate.

HOWEVER, the Allies want to buy them for immediate use. When they asked Secretary Morgenthau about it he shoved the war department order under their noses. This makes purchase impossible.

The war department claims that this order was written in conformity with the Neutrality Act, and was issued with the full knowledge of the president. However, high-powered American lawyers hired by the Allies to study every kink in the Neutrality Act, can find nothing to bar such sales. The Act of 1920 passed by congress permits the sale of surplus war department goods to anyone, and in 1933 Jimmy Roosevelt helped arrange for the sale of army supplies destined to the Bolivian government.

Also, there doesn't seem to be much difference between diverting to the Allies airplanes already ordered by the army, and selling out-of-date shoulder rifles now in army storehouses. Chief difference is the pure legal techincality that in the case of the rifles, title has already passed to the United States government.

War Chaff.

SENATOR JOSH LEE of Oklahoma says: "The people of my state are probably ahead of the president in his attitude toward Europe." . . . Dorothy Thompson says the best key to Italian war sentiment was given her by an Italian in Milan, who said: "Curse the English, who drove us into the arms of those swine, the Germans!" . . . U. S. diplomatic reports from Russia describe a bad food shortage there. Even in Odessa, center of Russia's wheat growing section, the streets are black with people standing in line for food. U. S. diplomats get no food privileges, have to shop in the same way as the hoipolloi.

Old Age Pensions.

THE Social Security Board is uneasily sitting on a secret that shows Chairman Arthur Altmeyer to be almost as poor a guesser as the late, and unlamented, Chamberlain government.

According to confidential SSB figures, Altmeyer is just 65 per cent wrong in his estimate of the number who would apply for old age pensions under the so-called "liberalizing" revisions enacted by congress last year.

Testifying before the senate finance committee in behalf of the amendments, Altmeyer airily poohpoohed charges that oldsters would not apply for pensions and predicted that over 900,000 applicants would file for benefits totaling around $114,000,000 in 1940. Congress took his word for it.

But today, the inside figure—which the SSB has not made public—show the critics to have been right and Altmeyer more than two-thirds wrong.

During the first four months of the year, only 62,364 eligibles applied for pensions totaling $1,173,933. This is a pretty sick showing compared to glowing forecasts.

As a result of the flop, SSB moguls privately have revised Altmeyer's figures, now hopefully estimate the year's total at 300,000 applicants for benefits amounting to $40,000,000—instead of 900,000 receiving $114,000,000.

Note—SSB explanation is that the average worker eligible for a pension makes around $66 a month. And he is unwilling to give this up for a $23 income under the pension system.

Timely Editorial

Warlike Children.

Out of Massachusetts comes a warning that the children are abandoning the game of cops and robbers and are playing soldiers. Home talk, of course, has much to do with this. But the Massachusetts public safety commissioner has ordered the state police to prosecute persons who sell or give firearms, airguns or ammunition to minors. He has law to back him.

Nevertheless, he reports that 20 children have been wounded within the last three months. They got the weapons either through violations of the law or by rummaging in attics and storerooms. And this is the sad part: 80 per cent of the children hurt suffered injuries to their eyes.

Home talk might better be safety talk.—Detroit News.

CHAPTER XXVII

"Had I," Julian said, glancing at her again, his eyes amused, "I'd have failed to join my sister in Maine and would have turned around and driven back to New York—to you." He added, "My sister lives in Washington in the winter and Maine in the summer. She has five children on whom she practices the very advanced child psychology she used to teach. They are five little demons."

Brooke smiled. "Uncle to five little demons. It's difficult to imagine. . . ."

He laughed "Think what they'll be when they grow up—completely uninhibited, expressing themselves freely. . . ."

"At least there's an attorney in the family."

"A corporation lawyer. . . ."

He chuckled but he didn't say anything and presently an elevator was taking them skyward to a cool lovely place and soft music.

Over cocktails his eyes were guarded. "Did you like Hawaii?"

My eyes can be guarded, too, she thought. "I saw only a little but what I saw I loved. I haven't thanked you for sending me flowers the night I sailed." He was one of the two people who had remembered. . . .

There was a sharp, mocking edge to his voice. "Did I send you flowers? I'd forgotten."

Anger pricked at her temples again. . . . "A standing order with the florist for all the people you know who sail?"

He narrowed his eyes and laughed. "I don't believe this girl likes me very much."

His eyes were very young, very clear, she thought. "This girl thinks you don't let people know you very well."

He sat back, smiling. "I'm a very uncomplicated person, It is you who are complicated. But while I'm not glad the old lady died, I am glad that you were set free. It would have been very bad for you to live with old age, to cater to it. It would have destroyed something in you I like, burned it out." Then he asked, "Would you like to see Barney in the role of country squire? Will you motor up with me Sunday afternoon?"

She said she would. Was Julian Carlton friend or foe? Still she did not know. One moment she detected an extraordinary kindness and broad understanding in him and felt drawn close to him. the next moment his mocking charm angered her and put her on guard.

Julian looked at her rather severely. "Do you wonder why I'm fond of Barney? Because he's real, because he makes no pretenses and he can talk about anything."

"You don't have to defend him to me. I'm fond of him."

"Perhaps I was defending him. I've had to before and I do it vehemently when I have to. There's a balcony over there. Do you like views of cities from balconies?"

They were alone on a balcony looking down on winking lights in a pit of darkness. The air was cool and fresh and even in the heart of the great city was bringing with it from field and flowers an early summer essence.

Julian, looking straight ahead, breathed deeply. "Nostalgia? I feel it, too. Nearly all of us here in New York are transplanted. I grew up in Maine. We come here to conquer and get swallowed up."

She had not come to conquer . . .

He said, "When we go back into the restaurant, shield your eyes. The lights will hurt them."

His unexpected thoughtfulness . . .

They went back to dance, to dine, to talk, and it was past midnight when he said a rather serious "good-night," Brooke," and uncovered his fair head a moment before the elevator operator closed the door upon him.

Brooke went to her room slowly and slowly pulled off her blue turban. I like him, she thought. I like him. She was certain now, though she was almost afraid to like him. When they met on Sunday, would she sense his silent laughter again?

The next day was auspicious in that a client came to Wilson Stone's office. And it was the day that Jim and Jean were to be married, Brooke thought many times that day.

There was a letter for her that evening, which had been sent first to New Hampshire. It was from Ellen.

Reading it quickly, she learned that Mrs. Kingsbury's faithful maid was in no hurry to leave the beautiful islands in the Pacific, and that other than gifts of money to old friends and a thousand dollars to Ellen, Mrs. Kingsbury had left her entire estate to Jessica Forbes' little daughters. It was like coming to the end of one of the mystery stories Mrs. Kingsbury had loved, Brooke thought, to know at last the contents of her will. But why should Mrs. Kingsbury have willed her anything? . . .

Sunday had begun clear and sunny. But in the afternoon when Julian's beige coupe was hurrying over the highway to Connecticut overcast skies foretold a storm.

"Perhaps we'll make it to Barney's before it breaks," Julian said.

Brooke, who looked her best in a printed frock with a jacket and the becoming blue turban, glanced sidewise and smiled. "I doubt if the traffic officers along here will be as lenient as our Mr. Ben up in Chatham."

"I keep you on the defensive, don't I?"

His face told her nothing. "Yes, you do, Julian."

"Perhaps," he said soberly, "I'll tell you why someday. Perhaps I'll never tell you," and went on from there telling her of an unusual and interesting case that had come to his attention recently of missing heirs and unclaimed wealth. When Brooke asked if Barney [illegible] said, "I called him. I doubt if he has other guests today. As a matter of fact, he doesn't intend to do any large scale entertaining until August. I may miss it. I may be in Maine on my vacation."

Brooke said, "Some one told me you were an inveterate traveler." Rod had told her . . .

* * *

Her knowledge of him seemed to amuse him. "Not this year. I've decided to be the playmate of my sister's five little demons for a week and to spend my remaining two weeks with friends in a more remote part of Maine. Incidentally, I'll be driving up and if you'd like a ride . . ."

She said thoughtfully, "I should be going home for a week-end soon."

Glancing up at the sky, she saw the sun disappear behind fretting dark clouds. "It is June," she thought. Six months since I came. Six swift months crowded into thousands of miles. . . . Where is Tony this afternoon? Where is Rod? She closed her eyes and when she opened them again large drops of rain on the windshield obscured the view.

"Put up the window," Julian said.

She ran it up just in time for a torrential downpour accompanied by sharp lightning and crashing thunder followed. When Julian pulled the car to the side of the road and stopped, she knew it was because he could no longer see.

"Not afraid, are you Brooke?"

"My mother always said that good people aren't afraid of storms."

"I think our mothers were very much alike," he said, glancing out. "My parents were divorced and we children, four of us, spent our time shuttling back and forth between them. Two years of my boyhood were spent on a farm in Kentucky, which had been left to my mother and which she tried to manage alone. She was quite alone then. Her older children had been sent to various schools, and I, the youngest, went with her. One of my most vivid memories is of her shooting a chicken hawk. She was an excellent shot. Knowing her, knowing what courage she put into that farm to make it pay so that my father, married again and prospering, would not have to pay her alimony, I learned to have a great sympathy as well as admiration for courageous women. She tried to be a farmer when she was educated to be a scientist. She died when I was 14."

"You have sympathy only for courageous women?" Brooke asked.

He did not look at her. "Yes Because courageous women, who asked for nothing because of their sex, fail more frequently than the parasites of their sex. Fail with men, with love . . ."

"Once you told me that there were two kinds of people—the ones who hurt and the ones who are hurt. I've been both. Have you ever loved?"

He looked at her and his eyes were very blue, very clear and very young again.

"I've called it that several times. Later I knew it was only a strong attraction and that I couldn't have lived with any of them." His well-cut mouth curved. "You have courage. You've been splendid."

"I don't deserve that," Brooke said. "Alone, you see, I wasn't splendid at all. And now I have progressed to the point of not wanting to love him. Is that a step in the right direction?"

"It's a step off the beaten track anyway." He looked out, but his foot on the accelerator. "It isn't bad now."

They rode a long time without speaking. Julian concentrating with a frown on the wet road, Brooke gazing at the drenched countryside, wondering if she knew him well enough to say "I like you, Julian," and deciding not to. She was on the defensive again when silence isolated them.

A huge, handsome old white house, newly painted, with acres of land spread amout it, came into view. Julian stopped the car in a driveway, and Brooke saw Barney standing in the doorway, the smoke from his cigar ascending in furious little black clouds.

He boomed, "Hello!" And to Julian, "Pick her up and bring her it. She'll get soaked to the knees."

"A command from our host," Julian said. "A girl over the threshold but not, unfortunately, a bride. Here, let me guess your weight. . . ."

A few moments later he deposited her in Barney's living-room, where a wood fire leaped in an old and picturesque fireplace. It glowed cheerfully on chintz covers over many deep chairs and two divans.

"Show you around later," Barney said, putting another log on the fire. "Made this to take the chill off. This house is like a barn, you know. We'll have cocktails and you'll stay to dinner, won't you?" His humorous little eyes shifted from Brooke, lifting the blue turban from her hair, to Julian, lighting a cigaret. "Good! You know, I think I'm going to like this place. Farm boy returns to farm." He laughed. "You can't get away from it. It smells so damn good after a rain. . . ."

Julian said, "I approve, too, Barney. I always thought you and the modern stuff in your city apartment jangled a bit."

"Damn woman decorator. You felt sacrilegeous when you left a pipe around. Come over and sit by me, Brooke, and tell me why women wear shoes without toes. Crazy style. What would you do if you got a hole in the toe of your stocking. . . ."

She saw the sunset, saw the twilight throw a purple mantle over the countryside while she sat beside Barney and looked from the hospitable fire to Julian, sitting splendidly upright, his face as bronzed as his hair. They talked of many things, including her in their talk, and laughed a good deal. Julian said once, "You see, Brooke, Barney is a sentimentalist. He won't admit it but he is."

SOCIETY & CLUBS

FIRST PRE-NUPTIAL PARTY AT McDERMID'S

Miss Ruth High Honored Last Night; Series of Affairs Will Honor Bride-Elect of C. K. Dye In Coming Weeks.

MRS. J. H. McDERMID, 503 East Townview circle, entertained with the first in a series of pre-nuptial parties honoring Miss Ruth High, bride-elect of C. K. Dye. Prizes were won by Mrs. C. G. Knarr and Mrs. C. B. Stone when bridge was played at two tables, and these were presented to the bride-to-be.

Green and white appointments were used on the long luncheon table. The table was centered with a four-branch candelabra wound with greenery and fever few. This foliage also extended to the four corners. Bridal corsages of lilies-of-the-valley, and nut cups completed the setting.

The hostess presented the honoree with an electrical gift.

Other parties in the series planned for Miss High include the affair Wednesday night at the Susie Janis home with the Misses Ada Steward, Florence Case and Vera Kelly as hostesses. Next Monday night Mrs. Harry Schlegel, Mrs. Mildred Miller and Mrs. N. N. Charles will entertain at the Colonial Guest House. The Susie Janis home will be the scene of parties given June 12 by Mrs. Robert Bride and Miss Naomi Gradon, June 14 by Mrs. Parker O'Brien, and June 18 by Mrs. Earl Bates and Mrs. Harry Eyerly.

A dinner will be served at the Dilmore home in Canton June 15 when Mrs. Wade Arbaugh and Miss Nellie Dilmore entertain.

Mansfielders Go To Annual Party Of Ashland Club

The tenth anniversary party of the Ashland Business and Professional Women's club was given at the Otter hotel last evening. The following members of the Mansfield organization were in attendance: Mrs. Marvel Cowell, Mrs. Dorothy Clauss and the Misses Catherine Riggs, Jeannette Hoffman, Sue Kozik, Mabelle Koppes, Helyn Brown, Grace Bonnell and Virginia Dye.

Two officers of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's club were present. They are Mrs. Marie Schaffter of Wooster, president, and Mrs. Doris W. Williams of Ashland, first vice president.

After the installation of officers and the presentation of the club history, two chapters of the book "From Jehovah to Jazz" were reviewed by Mrs. Cathleen Donges assisted by Miss Miriam Culler who presented the musical numbers.

Complete Plans For Dance Saturday Night

Final plans for the semi-formal dance of Phi Sigma Chi fraternity which will be held Saturday night at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last night when members met. Carl Williams is chairman for the affair. Music will be furnished by Ira Metcalf and his nine-piece orchestra.

A report was given of the golfing and dinner party held at the Harbor Hills Country club at Newark last Sunday when the Newark chapter entertained six members of the Mansfield organization. Clifford Hagedorn, program chairman, presented talking pictures of the present world crisis.

Games Follow Session Of Pocahontas Team

There were 19 members of the Pocahontas Degree team in attendance for a meeting at the home of Mrs. Anna Wigton on East Third street yesterday evening. Bunco and five hundred were in play after the business session, with prizes going to Mrs. Elizabeth Croskey and Mrs. Julia Grandstaff. Mrs. Clara Cramer won the club prize.

Luncheon was served at the close of the evening. Mrs. Edith Stickrod, 263 Park avenue west, has invited the group to her home for the next meeting, July 1.

GARDEN CLUB NOTICE.

The joint luncheon meeting of the Mansfield Garden clubs will be held at 1 p. m. at the Westbrook Country club Thursday instead of Friday as was previously announced. Luncheon will be served first followed by the lecture by Mrs. Dorothy Biddle.

Buffet Party Ends Card Tournament For Arc Circle

As a climax for the card tournament they have been playing for the past few months, members of the Joan of Arc circle, Daughters of Isabella, gathered at the Mansfield-Leland hotel for a buffet supper party yesterday evening. Mrs. G. C. Wehinger and Mrs. Louis Murphy were the hostesses, and bouquets of garden flowers were used to decorate the table.

Prizes for the tournament play were awarded during the evening. Mrs. John Newcomer, Mrs. William Rathburn, Mrs. John Daley, jr., Mrs. Frank Loykovich and Mrs. D. J. Millum were presented with the contract prizes, while auction awards went to Miss Mary Rizzo, Mrs. Edward J. Marshall, Miss Isabel Gerstmeyer, Miss Mary Elizabeth Jurgens and Mrs. Clarence Beelman.

Bridge was also the diversion last evening, with eight tables in progress. Miss Martha Grassbaugh, Mrs. Murphy and Mrs. Harry Kurrich were winners of the auction prizes. The high score contract awards were given to Mrs. Clarence Stuhldreher, Mrs. C. J. Kalbfleisch and Mrs. G. C. Wehinger. The group will meet for a business session at the club rooms in the Bird building on June 11.

Reports Work on 28 Children to Clinic Delegates

There were 40 representatives of 30 clubs present at the general meeting of the Dental clinic association last night in the Chamber of Commerce club rooms. Mrs. John Dailey, administrative case worker, reported that 28 children have been cared for since March 11.

Included in the work has been 22 extractions, 54 fillings, three anesthetics, one x-ray, replacing two front teeth, and two cleanings at a total cost of $105.

Mrs. David Boals reported the membership in the clinic, and announced that new organizations will be accepted now by petition only. Mrs. R. D. Evans announced that the benefit bridge parties had netted $303.57. She also stated that the group will save sales tax stamps, and Mrs. Lewis Hartman was named chairman.

It was decided that Mrs. Ward Ingraham and one other delegate will attend the child welfare conference at Elyria on Friday. Regular meetings will be resumed the second Monday in September.

Mrs. Sites Honors Son's Bride-Elect

Mrs. B. L. Sites, mother of Austin LeVere Sites, honored her son's bride-elect, Miss Marie Kraus, with a party Sunday afternoon at the former's home, 190 West Fourth street. The afternoon was spent socially.

Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with spring flowers. The places were marked with miniature vases holding lilies-of-the-valley. Mrs. Sites presented Mrs. Kraus with a gift.

Will Reign At Van Wert

JEANNE LEWIS

A high school senior, Jeanne Lewis has been selected to reign as queen over the Van Wert, O., Peony festival, a miniature mardi gras which annually attracts 100,000 persons. The festival opens tomorrow.

500 Attend Dinner Honoring Rev. Millar; Stars Entertain

REV. DAVID MILLAR, who will be 100 years old Friday, was feted last night at a dinner party given by Ruth Chapter, O. E. S. at Masonic Temple, which was attended by nearly 500 persons. The tables were decorated with spring flowers, roses, and special programs in gold and white. At the dinner Rev. Millar was presented with a birthday cake made by Mrs. Anna Leistensnider.

Among the guests at the affair were Carl Ellenwood, Wooster, worthy grand patron of Ohio, and Fairy Gingery, Columbus, formerly of Mansfield, assistant grand matron. Guests from all the chapters in the district, and a number outside the district were also present.

The assembly room was decorated with palms and spirea arranged around a miniature fence and gate wound with smilax. The west was decorated with cornucopias filled with iris, tulips and spirea.

During the evening Rev. Millar was presented with a gift by Ruth chapter, and gifts from several other chapters. Mary Anglin sang.

Later a routine meeting was conducted with Miss Pearl Wierman, worthy matron, in charge. She honored the past matrons and patrons, presenting each with a gift. Mrs. Jennie Harding, only living charter member, gave a history of the chapter.

The final meeting of the year will be held June 17 at the Masonic temple.

FETE GRADUATES.

Dr. and Mrs. A. O. Fonkalsrud entertained at their home on Forest avenue with an informal party for the graduates and their supervisors last night. The evening was spent in various parlor games, after which a two course luncheon was served by the hostess. The colors of chartreuse and dubonnet were carried out in the decorations, and each place was marked with a miniature nurse's cap and cape, and a fortune for favors.

RECITAL SET.

Miss Janet Baughman, piano student of Marie Marks Porterfield, will give her senior recital at 8 p. m. tomorrow evening. The affair will be held at St. Luke's Lutheran church. Miss Mildred Hart, violin student of Daisie M. Gibson, and Emerson Bletz, voice student of Miss Florence MacDonald, will be the assisting artists.

Solos Featured at Recital By Advanced Voice Pupils

MRS. Edith Fletcher Jameson sang two favorite selections at the recital of her advanced students which was presented at the John Simpson Junior high school last night.

Due to the last minute change in program, she gave "Home, Sweet Home", and "The Last Song" by James H. Rogers, instead of the scene from the opera "Faust," which had been scheduled. Mrs. Jameson concluded the program of the recital by her pupils.

Miss Sue McFadden opened the program with "Serenade" by Schubert. Miss Harriett Johnston sang "Ah! Mon Fils!" by Meyerbeer and "At the Well" by Hageman. Arthur Boyce was featured in "Largo Factotum" by Rossini, and Miss Doris Ranck sang, "Grieve Not Beloved" by Hageman and "Clavelitos" by Gitana.

"The Voice and the Flute" by Densmore, and the mad scene from "Lucia de Lammermoor" by Donizetti were sung by Miss Betty Austin with the assistance of Miss Charlet Cellers, flutist.

The operatic selections featured Miss Austin and Miss Johnston in "Hansel and Gretel" by Humperdinck, Arthur Boyce singing the prologue to "Pagliacci" by Leoncavallo, and Miss Austin and Miss Ranck in a scene from Puccini's "Madam Butterfly."

Accompanists were Louise Reynolds and Margaret B. Hall. The ushers for the evening were Mrs. Paul Cropper, Mrs. John W. Graham, Mrs. Claude V. Marks, Mrs. Edward Gibson, Mrs. H. B. Soulen, Mrs. Arthur Knight, Theodora Wendt and Janet Werner.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Quaintance, 497 West Fourth street, are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Virginia, to Paul Curren, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Curren, Shelby. The ceremony was performed May 25 at Greenup, Ky. The marriage was announced at a recent dinner party given by the bride's parents. The bridegroom is a graduate of the Shelby high school, and is employed as a technician. The couple will make their home with the bride's parents.

CHANGE HOSTESS.

It was announced today that Mrs. Barney Banks will entertain Circle Four of the First Presbyterian church Thursday afternoon at her home, 487 Forest avenue. Mrs. Earl Gilbert will serve as associate hostess for this meeting, which was formerly scheduled to be held at the home of Mrs. C. G. Young, 239 Bartley avenue.

Tappan Speaks On South Seas to Chi Omega Club

Paul R. Tappan was the guest speaker at a meeting of the Chi Omega Alumnae club yesterday evening at the home of Miss Florence Robison, 359 Park avenue west. Mr. Tappan told of his trip to the South Sea islands, and illustrated his talk with colored moving pictures.

Mrs. Emeline Simmons of Plymouth and Mrs. M. Carl Williams were the associate hostesses. Mrs. Robert Beck of Crestline conducted the business session, at which time plans for the summer meetings were discussed. When a buffet luncheon was served, Mrs. Harold Butzloff presided at the table, which was decorated with garden flowers and lighted tapers.

On July 1, the sorority is planning to entertain with a guest picnic. Miss Wilma Walker, social chairman, will have charge of the affair, while Mrs. Earl P. Gaar and Mrs. Williams will be on her assisting committee. The picnic will be held at 5:30 p. m. in Middle park.

Formal Induction For 12 Pledges Event of Monday

Twelve pledges were formally initiated into Delta Theta chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority yesterday evening in the ball room of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. Officers of the chapter were in charge of the services, after which a buffet supper was served at a large U-shaped table. Green and white, the sorority colors, were carried out in the flowers and candles decorating the table.

The Misses Martha Thompson, Betty Smythe, Sarah Catherine Wallace, Margaret Black, Edith Black, Mary Olive Hughes, Helen Lorow and Marjorie Dise, Mrs. Paul Snyder, Mrs. Lyle Jones, Mrs. Ben Esgar and Mrs. Dwight McCullough were the initiates. Mrs. Norman Wolfe had charge of the arrangements.

The group is planning to have a picnic on June 17. Miss Maxine Jones, Mrs. Ernest Geiger, Miss Hughes and Mrs. McCullough will serve on the arrangement committee at that time.

BON VOYAGE PARTY.

COMING MARRIAGE REVEALED AT PARTY

Miss Mary M. Whisler and Robert Dodson Will Exchange Nuptial Vows at Parsonage of St. Peter's Church.

THE APPROACHING MARRIAGE of Miss Mary Margaret Whisler and Robert Dodson was announced yesterday evening at a party which the prospective bridegroom's sister, Miss Ruth Dodson, gave at the Dodson family home, 201 Glessner avenue. The wedding will be an event of June 29 in the parsonage of St. Peter's Catholic church.

The announcement was made at the luncheon table, which was decorated with pink and blue appointments. Blue streamers led from a large bell suspended from a chandelier above the table to the guests' places which were marked with pink rosebud place cards. Tiny scrolls revealing the names of the couple and the date of the wedding were hidden inside these rosebuds. A miniature bridal pair and lighted tapers added to the table decorations.

Bridge was the diversion at three tables, and score prizes were awarded to Mrs. Sue Whisler and Miss Gerry McKee, who presented them to the honoree. The guests gave the bride-elect a shower of miscellaneous gifts in honor of the occasion, and she received an electrical gift from the hostess.

Miss Whisler is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Whisler, 127 North Benton street. Mr. Dodson's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dodson of Glessner avenue.

HOSPITAL TESTS REVEAL GREAT DISCOVERY FOR CONSTIPATION
At last—here's an ideal, "daily" treatment for constipation with its headaches, mental dullness, fatigue and sallow skin.
Tests in a world-famous hospital have proved a "little daily dose" of Kruschen (world-famous formula, now at last obtainable in pleasant tasting "bubbling" form) actually produces nature's own gentle, pleasant, "daily" bowel movements by keeping the waste matter in the colon moist, soft and easy to expel.
Scientists report: "Kruschen can be taken for years without having to increase the dose." Also acts as a mild Antacid and Kidney Stimulant. Gives you MORE for your money, too! A jar that costs only a trifle lasts for WEEKS. Over 245,000,000 jars have been sold thruout the world. Kruschen MUST be good—it MUST do the work! Made in U. S. A.

Now Comes in Pleasant Tasting "Bubbling" Form!
